Building the Anti-Racist University Shirley Anne Tate, Paul Bagguley, 2018-12-18 In the new arena for anti-racist work in which we find ourselves, the neo-liberal post-race university, this interdisciplinary collection demonstrates common global political concerns about racism in Higher Education. It highlights a range of issues regarding students, academic staff, and knowledge systems, and all of the contributions seek to challenge the complacency of the post-race present that is dominant in North West Europe and North America. Brazil's mythical racial democracy and South Africa's post-apartheid rainbow nation. The collection makes clear that we are not yet past the need for anti-racist institutional action because of the continuing impact of coloniality on and in these nations. From within the colonial psyche, which still exists in the 21st century, these nations actively deracinate politics, subjectivities, political economy, and affective relationalities when they re-imagine themselves to be post-race states where all citizens can have a share in the good life because now only class matters. Universities have also taken on the mantle of upholding societal post-race status through ineffective equality and diversity policies and strategies. The collection makes the case for the urgent need to decolonize the university in post-race neoliberal times through a focus on institutional racism in HEIs in Canada, Brazil, South Africa, the UK, and the USA. As such, it addresses institutional whiteness, the transformation of organizational cultures, the presence and experiences of Black people, People of Colour, and Indigenous people in HEIs, the development of curriculum interventions, widening participation, and organizational change, and future directions for racial equality and diversity in a post-race era. This book was originally published as a special issue of Race, Ethnicity and Education.
