Use of Occupation-based Interventions by Occupational Therapists in the Clinical Setting Sarah Coe, Allison Fisher, 2010* Student Perceptions of Implementing Occupation-based Interventions Kristin Rozek, Elizabeth Langley, Joel Morley, 2018 Purpose: The purpose of this qualitative study was to gain a greater understanding of the perspectives of occupational therapy students and novice occupational therapy practitioners in regards to why there is a shift away from the professions roots of occupation based interventions occurring in the clinic and the importance of occupation based interventions to the occupational therapy profession. Method: Three separate focus groups were conducted with Masters of Science in Occupational Therapy (MSOT) students who completed at least one level I fieldwork, MSOT students who completed at least one level II fieldwork and recently graduated occupational therapy practitioners who have been practicing for longer than 6 months but for no longer than 2 years. The focus groups were recorded, transcribed and analyzed for common themes. Results: Four common themes were highlighted: client practitioner motivation, effectiveness of occupation based interventions, clinical treatment setting and mentor/mentee relationships. These themes were found to have positive and negative implications on the clinical implementation of occupation based interventions. Page 2 The Use of Occupation-based Kits to Promote the Use of Occupation-based Interventions by Occupational Therapists Kristen Vokes, 2012 Interventions, Effects, and Outcomes in Occupational Therapy Mary C. Law, Mary Ann McColl, 2010 Occupational therapists are expected to maintain their knowledge of best practice by independently keeping up to date on the latest research. With this work the authors have assembled the evidence for effectiveness of occupational therapy for adults and older adults. It brings together the latest published peer reviewed literature, conceptual approaches, outcome measures and intervention approaches to address the three main areas by: Identifying a finite set of interventions which occupational therapists deliver most often and providing details of those intervention approaches; Identifying where the research evidence shows that occupational therapists can achieve specific positive effects as a result of those interventions; Identifying the outcome measures most commonly and reliably used by researchers in occupational therapy to demonstrate the effects of interventions. The authors have comprehensively reviewed all of the intervention effectiveness literature for occupational therapy provided for adults. The material reviewed crosses all diagnostic categories and areas of practice for adults and older adults. Analysis of over 500 research studies and systematic reviews form the basis for this book. 50 Studies Every Occupational Therapist Should Know Beth Pyatak, 2023 50 Studies
