Occurrence At Owl Creek Bridge:

An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge Ambrose Bierce, A man stood upon a railroad bridge in northern Alabama looking down into the swift water twenty feet below The man s hands were behind his back the wrists bound with a cord A rope closely encircled his neck It was attached to a stout cross timber above his head and the slack fell to the level of his knees Some loose boards laid upon the ties supporting the rails of the railway supplied a footing for him and his executioners two private soldiers of the Federal army directed by a sergeant who in civil life may have been a deputy sheriff At a short remove upon the same temporary platform was an officer in the uniform of his rank armed He was a captain A sentinel at each end of the bridge stood with his rifle in the position known as support that is to say vertical in front of the left shoulder the hammer resting on the forearm thrown straight across the chest a formal and unnatural position enforcing an erect carriage of the body It did not appear to be the duty of these two men to know what was occurring at the center of the bridge they merely blockaded the two ends of the foot planking that traversed it Beyond one of the sentinels nobody was in sight the railroad ran straight away into a forest for a hundred yards then curving was lost to view Doubtless there was an outpost farther along The other bank of the stream was open ground a gentle slope topped with a stockade of vertical tree trunks loopholed for rifles with a single embrasure through which protruded the muzzle of a brass cannon commanding the bridge Midway up the slope between the bridge and fort were the spectators a single company of infantry in line at parade rest the butts of their rifles on the ground the barrels inclining slightly backward against the right shoulder the hands crossed upon the stock A lieutenant stood at the right of the line the point of his sword upon the ground his left hand resting upon his right Excepting the group of four at the center of the bridge not a man moved The company faced the bridge staring stonily motionless The sentinels facing the banks of the stream might have been statues to adorn the bridge The captain stood with folded arms silent observing the work of his subordinates but making no sign Death is a dignitary who when he comes announced is to be received with formal manifestations of respect even by those most familiar with him In the code of military etiquette silence and fixity are forms of deference

An Occurrence at Owl Creek Ambrose Bierce,2016-08-19 Peyton Farquhar a plantation owner in his mid thirties is being prepared for execution by hanging from an Alabama railroad bridge during the American Civil War Six military men and a company of infantrymen are present guarding the bridge and carrying out the sentence Farquhar thinks of his wife and children and is then distracted by a noise that to him sounds like an unbearably loud clanging it is actually the ticking of his watch He considers the possibility of jumping off the bridge and swimming to safety if he can free his tied hands but the soldiers drop him from the bridge before he can act on the idea In a flashback Farquhar and his wife are relaxing at home one evening when a soldier rides up to the gate Farquhar a supporter of the Confederacy learns from him that Union troops have seized the Owl Creek railroad bridge and repaired it The soldier suggests that Farquhar might be able to burn the bridge down if he can slip past its guards He then leaves but doubles back after nightfall to return north the way he came The soldier is actually a disguised Union scout who has lured Farquhar into a trap as any civilian caught interfering with the railroads will be hanged The story returns to the present and the rope around Farquhar s neck breaks when he falls from the bridge into the creek He frees his hands pulls the noose away and surfaces to begin his escape His senses now greatly sharpened he dives and swims downstream to avoid rifle and cannon fire Once he is out of range he leaves the creek to begin the journey to his home 30 miles away Farquhar walks all day long through a seemingly endless forest and that night he begins to hallucinate seeing strange constellations and hearing whispered voices in an unknown language He travels on urged by the thought of his wife and children despite the pains caused by his ordeal The next morning after having apparently fallen asleep while walking he finds himself at the gate to his plantation He rushes to embrace his wife but before he can do so he feels a heavy blow upon the back of his neck there is a loud noise and a flash of white and everything goes black It is revealed that Farquhar never escaped at all he imagined the entire third part of the story during the time between falling through the bridge and the noose breaking his neck An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge Ambrose
