Cooperative Intelligent Robotics in Space II William E. Stoney, 1992

Analysis and Design of Machine Learning Techniques Patrick Stalph, 2014-02-06 Manipulating or grasping objects seems like a trivial task for humans as these are motor skills of everyday life Nevertheless motor skills are not easy to learn for humans and this is also an active research topic in robotics However most solutions are optimized for industrial applications and thus few are plausible explanations for human learning The fundamental challenge that motivates Patrick Stalph originates from the cognitive science How do humans learn their motor skills The author makes a connection between robotics and cognitive sciences by analyzing motor skill learning using implementations that could be found in the human brain at least to some extent Therefore three suitable machine learning algorithms are selected algorithms that are plausible from a cognitive viewpoint and feasible for the roboticist The power and scalability of those algorithms is evaluated in theoretical simulations and more realistic scenarios with the iCub humanoid robot Convincing results confirm the applicability of the approach while the biological plausibility is discussed in retrospect

New Trends in Educational Activity in the Field of Mechanism and Machine Theory Juan Carlos García-Prada, Cristina Castejón, 2013-10-12 The First International Symposium on the Education in Mechanism and Machine Science ISEMMS 2013 aimed to create a stable platform for the interchange of experience among researches of mechanism and machine science Topics treated include contributions on subjects such as new trends and experiences in mechanical engineering education mechanism and machine science in mechanical engineering curricula MMS in engineering programs such as for example methodology virtual labs and new laws All papers have been rigorously reviewed and represent the state of the art in their field
