Intervention Concepts presented this marking period:

During our intervention time, I work with students to expand basic reading skills required of beginning readers. Children learn strategies for decoding new and unknown words and for answering explicit comprehension questions found within the text and inferential questions in which they have to think beyond the text. Each day, we engage in the following activities:

- Symbol identification: consonants, digraphs, short and long vowels, sound combinations
- Reading vocabulary discussion
- Story reading to develop reading accuracy and fluency
- Comprehension conversations to develop reading comprehension mother whose child has had a cochlear implant tells Laura Mauldin why enrollment in the sign language program at her daughter's school is plummeting The majority of parents want their kids to talk Some parents however feel very differently because curing deafness with cochlear implants is uncertain difficult and freighted with judgment about what is normal acceptable and right Made to Hear sensitively and thoroughly considers the structure and culture of the systems we have built to make deaf children hear Based on accounts of and interviews with families who adopt the cochlear implant for their deaf children this book describes the experiences of mothers as they navigate the health care system their interactions with the professionals who work with them and the influence of neuroscience on the process Though Mauldin explains the politics surrounding the issue her focus is not on the controversy of whether to have a cochlear implant but on the long term multiyear undertaking of implantation Her study provides a nuanced view of a social context in which science technology and medicine are trusted to vanquish disability and in which mothers are expected to use these tools Made to Hear reveals that implantation has the central goal of controlling the development of the deaf child s brain by boosting synapses for spoken language and inhibiting those for sign language placing the politics of neuroscience front and center Examining the consequences of cochlear implant technology for professionals and parents of deaf children Made to Hear shows how certain neuroscientific claims about neuroplasticity deafness and language are deployed to encourage compliance with medical technology
