WORKSHEET

Global Population Distribution

Global population distribution shows where people live and how they live. It is influenced by many factors.

Population Density

- The world's population is unevenly distributed across the globe.
- The majority of people live in densely populated areas.
- The majority of people live in areas where density is higher than the world average.
- The majority of people live in areas where density is lower than the world average.
- The majority of people live in areas where density is the same as the world average.

Population Density and Distribution

Some areas of the world are densely populated (crowded), with many people. Some areas are sparsely populated (empty), with few people.

Factors influence where people live.

Physical factors (climate, relief, accessibility) and human factors (economic activities and services, environment) influence where people live.

Population density is the number of people living in a given area. It is calculated by dividing the total population by the total area.

Population density is a measure of how crowded an area is. It is calculated by dividing the total population by the total area.
