Robert Esparza

5678 Commerce Blvd,
San Francisco, CA 94123

Dear Mr. Esparza,

I am writing on behalf of [Your Company Name], an established entity dedicated to providing quality education and resources to underserved students in the community. We believe that access to education is not a privilege, but a right, and we are steadfast in our efforts to ensure we live up to this philosophy.

Our upcoming project 'Pathway to Success' aims to provide comprehensive educational resources and academic workshops for 300 underprivileged students in New York. These resources include tutoring, mentoring, literacy programs, scholarship opportunities, and more.

To achieve our mission, we are kindly seeking sponsorship support. Your esteemed organization, ABC Company, has a long-standing reputation for supporting community education initiatives. Therefore, we humbly request your help to make this project a success.

We would be happy to discuss our proposal further, detailing the many opportunities available for sponsor recognition and involvement. We also extend an open invitation for you or your representative to visit our organization to better understand our mission and the positive impact your support could generate.

We look forward to the possibility of partnering with you to elevate education within our community. Thank you in advance for considering this sponsorship opportunity.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Change a Life, Change your Own Peter Ove, 2018-06-11T00:00:00Z Change a Life Change Your Own is a long overdue adult discussion about how child sponsorship a spectacularly successful fundraising tool infantilizes both donor and recipient turning good intentions into paternalism and reinforcing stereotypical Western ideas about helplessness and hopelessness in developing countries Ian Smillie author of The Charity of Nations Freedom from Want and Diamonds Change a Life Change Your Own For less than a dollar a day For the cost of one coffee a day With these slogans and their accompanying images of poor children some of the world's largest development organizations invite the global North to engage in one of their most prominent and successful fundraising techniques child sponsorship But as Peter Ove argues in Change a Life Change Your Own child sponsorship is successful not because it addresses the needs of poor children but because it helps position what it means to live ethically in an unequal and unjust world In this way child sponsorship is seen as more than an effective marketing tool it is a powerful mechanism for spreading particular ideas about the global South the global North and the relationship between the two Through sponsorship the desire to raise money secure appropriate childhoods and become better people ends up taking priority over the goal of living together well on a global scale Drawing on in depth interviews with child sponsors and sponsorship staff Change a Life Change Your Own explores the contexts in which sponsorship promotional material is produced interpreted and acted upon This is not an expos on the use of sponsorship dollars or high administrative costs it is a clearly written and compelling account of how the problem of development is constructed such that child sponsorship is seen to be a rational and ethical solution Public Financing of Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty United States.

Fundraising for Honors Larry R. Andrews, 2009 To many honors administrators fundraising is alien and frightening This monograph is directed primarily to honors deans and directors who have widely varying experience with fundraising It may also be useful reading for those staff members faculty and development officers who have some responsibility for honors fundraising It focuses on what the honors academic leader can bring to fundraising efforts Because many honors administrators face fundraising with inexperience dread and even hostility the author has organized the work developmentally beginning with the easiest stages of initiation and progressing toward greater challenges Honors leaders more experienced in fundraising may choose to skim over the early parts to arrive at sections more relevant to their level of experience Readers of course may consult only those topics with which they are least familiar Other sources some listed in the bibliography can provide a more analytic breakdown of the different aspects of fundraising planning procedure and management Some offer detailed instruction and advice on such topics as writing a good case statement The structure this author has chosen to use reflects his own learning process as he moved from a faculty member utterly innocent of fundraising to an experienced dean reasonably comfortable with all aspects of the process The following chapters are presented 1 Baby Steps Getting Started 2 Finding the Pace Increasing the Momentum and 3 Bold Strides Becoming a Pro Appended are the following 1 Glossary 2 NCHC E mail Survey Fall 2007 3 Sample Documents and 4 Annotated Bibliography
