These are the first results of the first year of implementation of the system in a laboratory. They give a glimpse of the way in which the system works, and the way in which the system is being used. The system is being used in a number of ways, and the results are being used to improve the system.

There was considerable variability in study objectives: almost equally split between studies that aimed to assess the effect of the use of a tool to assess road network (four studies) and studies that aimed to assess the effect of a tool to assess road network (four studies). The majority of studies (10/12) were published in 2008 or 2009.

These results indicate that the use of a networked video conference system for virtual business negotiations results in outcomes equal to outcomes negotiated in person. These results also provide evidence that the use of a networked video conference system for business negotiations is not inferior to face-to-face negotiations.

First steps are critical to the success of any R&D program in nanotechnology. Florida Technology Office (FTO) provides guidance through its nanotechnology Roadmap. One of the critical steps is to establish a nanotechnology infrastructure or nanotechnology Florida Infrastructure, similar to the nanotechnology network with Japan. These efforts are also important to attract talent, create jobs, and drive economic growth.
