Child Injury and the Determinants of Health Amy Peden, Richard Franklin, 2021-03-23

The World Health Organization recognizes that injuries are the leading cause of death and disability to children after their first birthday

There is also high morbidity associated with injuries sustained in childhood often affecting people for the rest of their lives

For every child who dies from injury there are several thousand who require medical care many who live with varying degrees of disability

Children and adolescents 0-19 years of age are at increased risk of mortality and morbidity due to injuries such as road traffic burns falls poisoning drowning self harm and interpersonal violence

There are proven ways to prevent many child injuries yet there are still gaps in our knowledge

By understanding the impact of determinants of health i.e. the social and economic environment the physical environment and a person's individual characteristics and behaviors effective prevention interventions can be designed and implemented with a high return on investment

This Special Issue covers an eclectic range of studies the common goal of which is to reduce the global burden of child injury related mortality and morbidity
