Abraham, 2005-12-16 Sustainable development is commonly defined as development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs Sustainability in engineering incorporates ethical and social issues into the design of products and processes that will be used to benefit society as a whole Sustainability Science and Engineering Volume 1 Defining Principles sets out a series of Sustainable Engineering Principles that will help engineers design products and services to meet societal needs with minimal impact on the global ecosystem Using specific examples and illustrations the authors cleverly demonstrate opportunities for sustainable engineering providing readers with valuable insight to applying these principles This book is ideal for technical and non technical readers looking to enhance their understanding of the impact of sustainability in a technical society Defines the principles of sustainable engineering Provides specific examples of the application of sustainable engineering in industry Represents the viewpoints of current leaders in the field and describes future needs in new technologies      Handbook of Loss Prevention Engineering Joel M. Haight, 2013-03-19 Loss prevention engineering describes all activities intended to help organizations in any industry to prevent loss whether it be through injury fire explosion toxic release natural disaster terrorism or other security threats Compared to process safety which only focusses on preventing loss in the process industry this is a much broader field Here is the only one stop source for loss prevention principles policies practices programs and methodology presented from an engineering vantage point As such this handbook discusses the engineering needs for manufacturing construction mining defense health care transportation and quantification covering the topics to a depth that allows for their functional use while providing additional references should more information be required The reference nature of the book allows any engineers or other professionals in charge of safety concerns to find the information needed to complete their analysis project process or design      Metals and Metalloids in Plant Signaling Tariq Aftab, 2024-06-28 In many parts of the world soil and water are slightly to moderately contaminated with metals and metalloids such as Cd Cu Zn Ni Co Cr Pb Si B and As This could be due to long term use of phosphatic fertilizers sewage sludge application dust from smelters industrial waste and bad watering practices in agricultural lands Beside natural factors human activities have contributed to the enormous increase in heavy metal and or metalloid pollution in the environment Metal and metalloid stress are major abiotic stress factors that limit crop production and reduce agricultural yield The primary response of plants is the generation of reactive oxygen species ROS upon exposure to high levels of metals metalloids They either generate ROS directly through Haber Weiss reactions or overproduction of ROS and occurrence of oxidative stress in plants could be the indirect consequence of metals metalloids toxicity The indirect mechanisms include their interaction with the antioxidant system disrupting the electron transport chain or disturbing the metabolism of essential elements One of the most deleterious effects induced by heavy metals exposure in plants is lipid peroxidation which can directly cause biomembrane deterioration The impact of metals metalloids on plant water relations has to be distinguished from their effects on water availability in soils on root growth limiting water uptake as well as other phytotoxic effects If soils are high in soluble salts including heavy metal salts the osmotic potential in the soil solution might be lower than the potential of the cell sap in root Under these circumstances the soil solution would severely restrict the rate of water uptake by plants and lead to osmotic stress Further the negative influence metals metalloids have on the growth and activities of soil microorganisms may also indirectly affect the growth of plants In the book Metals and Metalloids in Plant Signaling we elucidated the effects of metals metalloids on signaling and communication cascades in plants The general aim of the present book is to provide a comprehensive analysis of the current situation and development in the field and to develop a science based theoretical foundation for the conceptualization and practical application The various chapters are based on the consideration of metals metalloids in terms of their action on different regulatory and functional systems of plants signaling metabolism uptake and transport mechanisms etc

Metalloids in Plants Rupesh Deshmukh, Durgesh Kumar Tripathi, Gea Guerriero, 2020-05-18 Understanding metalloids and the potential impact they can have upon crop success or failure Metalloids have a complex relationship with plant life Exhibiting a combination of metal and non metal characteristics this small group of elements which includes boron B silicon Si germanium Ge arsenic As antimony Sb and tellurium Te may hinder or enhance the growth and survival of crops The causes underlying the effects that different metalloids may have upon certain plants range from genetic variance to anatomical factors the complexities of which can pose a challenge to botanists and agriculturalists of all backgrounds With Metalloids in Plants a group of leading plant scientists present a complete guide to the beneficial and adverse impacts of metalloids at morphological anatomical biochemical and molecular levels Insightful analysis of data on genetic regulation helps to inform the optimization of farming indicating how one may boost the uptake of beneficial metalloids and reduce the influence of toxic ones Contained within this essential new text there are Expert analyses of the role of metalloids in plants covering their benefits as well as their adverse effects Explanations of the physiological biochemical and genetic factors at play in plant uptake of metalloids Outlines of the breeding and genetic engineering techniques involved in the generation of resistant crops Written for students and professionals in the fields of agriculture botany molecular biology and biotechnology Metalloids in Plants is an invaluable overview of the relationship between crops and these unusual elements
