Public Works for Water and Power Development and Atomic Energy Commission Appropriations for Fiscal Year 1974 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Appropriations, 1973 Review of the Edwards Aquifer Habitat Conservation Plan National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Water Science and Technology Board, Committee to Review the Edwards Aquifer Habitat Conservation Plan, 2018-12-29 The Edwards Aquifer in south central Texas is the primary source of water for one of the fastest growing cities in the United States San Antonio and it also supplies irrigation water to thousands of farmers and livestock operators. It is also the source water for several springs and rivers including the two largest freshwater springs in Texas that form the San Marcos and Comal Rivers. The unique habitat afforded by these spring fed rivers has led to the development of species that are found in no other locations on Earth. Due to the potential for variations in spring flow caused by both human and natural causes these species are continuously at risk and have been recognized as endangered under the federal Endangered Species Act ESA. In an effort to manage the river systems and the aquifer that controls them the Edwards Aquifer Authority EAA and stakeholders have developed a Habitat Conservation Plan HCP. The HCP seeks to effectively manage the river aquifer system to ensure the viability of the ESA listed species in the face of drought population growth and other threats to the aquifer. This report is the third and final product of a three phase study to provide advice to the EAA on various aspects of the HCP that will ultimately lead to improved management of the Edwards Aquifer This final report focuses on the biological goals and objectives found in the HCP for each of the listed species The Biology of Plethodontid Salamanders Richard C. A Salamander's Tale Paul Steinberg,2015-04-21 Staring in the face of prostate cancer at age thirty five and metastatic disease and proposed surgical castration at age forty Paul Steinberg was forced to take two simultaneous journeys The first was to transition from doctor to patient and surrender his physical health to a medical establishment he knew from firsthand knowledge would be using approaches that would be outdated within a few years The second was a spiritual journey His search for a higher meaning in his life sent him as far as walking over hot coals with Tony Robbins Using the salamander as his role model Steinberg a college health and sports psychiatrist takes a look at the evolution of the regenerative capabilities of cold blooded vertebrates like the salamander and at what we as humans have lost and gained in our warm bloodedness How do human beings regenerate How do we redeem ourselves when our capacity for regeneration is limited How did the prostate evolve and how does prostate cancer develop With wit and humor Steinberg tackles lust and sex and ultimately time and death and the gods Having lived longer than virtually anyone else with metastatic prostate cancer he uses his knowledge as a doctor and experience as a patient to provide a story of endurance and perseverance weaving a tale of grace regeneration and redemption just not the kind of regeneration and redemption that he or anyone else would expect
