Fall Susan Booysen, 2016-10-01 This book explores the student discontent a year after the start of the 2015 South African FeesMustFall revolt FeesMustFall the student revolt that began in October 2015 was an uprising against lack of access to and financial exclusion from higher education in South Africa More broadly it radically questioned the socio political dispensation resulting from the 1994 social pact between big business the ruling elite and the liberation movement The 2015 revolt links to national and international youth struggles of the recent past and is informed by black consciousness politics and social movements of the international left Yet its objectives are more complex than those of earlier struggles The student movement has challenged the hierarchical top down leadership system of university management and it s double speak of professing to act in workers and students interests yet entrenching a regressive system for control and governance University managements while on one level amenable to change have also co opted students into their ranks to create co responsibility for the highly bureaucratised university financial aid that stands in the way of their social revolution This book maps the contours of student discontent a year after the start of the FeesMustFall revolt Student voices dissect colonialism improper compromises by the founders of democratic South Africa feminism worker rights and meaningful education In depth assessments by prominent scholars reflect on the complexities of student activism its impact on national and university governance and offer provocative analyses of the power of the revolt *Annual Report South Africa. Refugee Cities Sanaa Alimia, 2022-09-13 Situated between the 1970s Soviet Union's invasion of Afghanistan and the post 2001 War on Terror Refugee Cities tells the story of how global wars affect everyday life for Afghans who have been living as refugees in Pakistan This book provides a necessary glimpse of what ordinary life looks like for a long term refugee population beyond the headlines of war terror or helpless suffering It also increases our understanding of how cities rather than the nation are important sites of identity making for people of migrant origins In Refugee Cities Sanaa Alimia reconstructs local microhistories to chronicle the lives of ordinary people living in low income neighborhoods in Peshawar and Karachi and the ways in which they have transformed the cities of which they are a part In Pakistan formal citizenship is almost impossible for Afghans to access despite this Afghans have made new neighborhoods expanded city boundaries built cities through their labor in construction projects and created new urban identities and often they have done so alongside Pakistanis Their struggles are a crucial neglected dimension of Pakistan's urban history Yet given that the Afghan experience in Pakistan is profoundly shaped by geopolitics the book also documents how in the War on Terror era many Afghans have been forced to leave Pakistan This book then is also a documentation of the multiple displacements migrants are subject to and the increased normalization of deportation as a part of refugee management

The Market Imperative Robert Zemsky, Susan Shuman, 2017-12-22 Thinking about American higher education as an economic market changes everything It is no surprise that college tuition and student debt are on the rise Universities no longer charge tuition to simply cover costs They are market enterprises that charge whatever the market will bear Institutional ambition along with increasing competition for students now shape the economics of higher education In The Market Imperative Robert Zemsky and Susan Shuman argue that too many institutional leaders and policy makers do not understand how deeply the consumer markets they promoted have changed American higher education Instead of functioning as a single integrated industry higher education is in fact a collection of segmented and more or less separate markets These markets have their own distinctive operating constraints and logics especially regarding price But those most responsible for federal higher education policy have made a muck of the enterprise while state policy making has all but disappeared the victim of weak imaginations insufficient funding and an aversion to targeted investment Chapter by chapter this compelling text draws on new data developed by the authors in a Gates Foundation funded project to describe the landscape how the market for higher education distributes students among competing institutions what the job market is looking for how markets differ across the fifty states and how the higher education market determines the kinds of faculty at different kinds of institutions The volume concludes with a three pronged set of policies for making American higher education mission centered as well as market smart Although there is no one size fits all approach for reforming higher education this clearly written book will productively advance understanding of the challenges colleges and universities face by providing a mapping of the configuration of the market for an undergraduate education Women and Suicide in Iran S. Behnaz Hosseini, 2021-09-30 Drawing on feminist theory as well as theory surrounding the correlation between poverty and suicide this study explores the increased rate of suicide among women in western Iran Based on empirical research including interviews with women from the Kurdish region of the country the author considers the marginalisation of Kurdish populations in Iran the suppression of their rights and violence against women in its various forms With attention to family violence such as direct physical or sexual assault psychological bullying or through practices such as forced marriage or honour killings the author also considers the political nature of such violence as certain violent practices are enshrined in the Iranian constitution and legitimised in jurisprudential practice A study of gendered violence and its effects Women and Suicide in Iran will be of interest to scholars working in the fields of Sociology Criminology and Middle Eastern Studies with interests in violence gender and suicide Digital Connection in Health and Social Work Denise Turner, Michael

Fanner, 2025-02-28 This book focusses on the move to digitally mediated forms of teaching learning and practice during Covid 19 and offers a series of case studies which showcase positive practices during this time Education Health and Social Work services have all been at the forefront of national debate since the first UK lockdown in March 2020 Schools Colleges and Higher Education institutions moved rapidly to online delivery with educators parents practice learning partners and students alike compelled to adapt to online connection disrupting previous norms and forcing a rapid acquisition of new skills In health and social care practice there has been a similar move to online delivery whilst maintaining consistency of service and support The pandemic also coincided with the recommendations of the national Digital Capabilities for Social Work project commissioned by Health Education England which produced a prescient framework for professional practice This book showcases innovative ways in which practice and education have responded to the challenges of Covid 19 With ongoing debate about planning for the next pandemic as well as adapting to the post Covid landscape the book is a valuable resource for all those involved in health and social work education and practice Protest in South Africa Heidi

Brooks, Rekgotsofetse Chikane, 2024-01-23 Popular protest has become a regular feature of post 1994 South Africa As a young democracy born out of resistance we may understand the contemporary manifestations of protest as extensions of this broader history However it is notably in the context of formal democratic institutions that popular protest has become an increasingly normalised mode of influencing policy demanding service delivery and forcing change Protest is constitutive of South Africa's democratic politics but also reflective of it Protest in South Africa Rejection reassertion reclamation explores the underpinnings of contemporary protest and both its short term causes and structural drivers Focusing on the surge of protest from the mid 2000s this edited volume provides an overview of the complexity of protest action the diversity of protest spaces and actors and responses to protest from both citizens and state The volume situates its analysis against the backdrop of the global wave of protest witnessed since the turn of the 21 century while examining protest in South Africa's local and historical contexts Contributors to the volume examine protests in relation to among other factors provision of infrastructure and services contestations around socio economic development issues of citizenship and demands for inclusive democratic governance Chapters also examine the role of women in protest action the policing of protest and the intersection of protest action with spaces of formal politics The volume also alerts us to the darker side of protest and the destruction and division it may foment It thus considers the prospects of South Africa s evolving sometimes violent protest terrain for social and state stability and democratic progress In the diversity of spaces sectors and communities of interests in which collective action has emerged Protest in South Africa Rejection reassertion reclamation shows how protest is underpinned by a rejection of the status quo a reassertion of interests and a reclaiming of the political and democratic space
