Saturday Review ,1866 Anthropological Theory Robert Alan Manners,David Kaplan, Anthropological theory has been much discussed in recent years yet the crucial questions still remain how can it be defined how is it developed how is it to be applied and how can one confirm it The editors of Anthropological Theory answer these questions by presenting essays relating to various aspects of anthropological theory Their selections from widely scattered and often difficult to obtain sources present a comprehensive set of writings that describe the current position and issues involved in theory The development of field work in anthropology generated a tremendous emphasis on empirical data and research The plethora of information awaiting collection and the enthusiasm with which the field embraced it so immersed anthropologists that they were unable to relate this new information to the field as a whole Manners and Kaplan believe that this lack of generalization had a profoundly negative effect upon the discipline Therefore they look closely into the relationship between field work and theory in an opening essay and go on to present material that demonstrates the value and the necessity of theory in anthropology Essays by anthropologists and other social scientists deal with explanation evolution ecology ideology structuralism and a number of other issues reflecting throughout the editors conviction that anthropology is a science the goal of which is to produce generalizations about sociocultural phenomena The book provides necessary perspective for examining and evaluating the crucial intellectual concerns of modern anthropology and will therefore be important for the work of every anthropologist Robert A Manners 1913 1996 received his Ph D from Columbia University and carried on field work in the Caribbean among American Indians in the Southwest and in East Africa He wrote numerous articles and reviews for anthropological journals as well as many books He was professor of anthropology Brandeis University where he started up the department David Kaplan is professor emeritus of anthropology at Brandeis University He has contributed articles and reviews to various journals He has also done field work in Mexico and his areas of specialty include economic anthropology method and theory and peasant culture of Mesoamerica

The Qur'an in South Asia Kamran Bashir, 2021-09-20 The book investigates modern Qur an commentaries in South Asia and engages with how Muslim scholars have imagined and assessed their past intellectual heritage The research is focused on British India from the time of the Mutiny of 1857 to the moment of the Partition of united India in 1947 Offering critical scrutiny of Muslim exegesis of the Qur an in North India the study especially focuses on the Qur anic thought of Sayyid Ahmed Khan d 1989 Ashraf Ali Thanawi d 1943 and Hamid al Din Farahi d 1930 The volume challenges widespread assumptions of an all pervasive reform and revivalism underlying the academic study of Islam Instead of looking for Muslim revivalism and reform as epistemological foundations it stresses the study of modern Qur an commentaries in particular local and cosmopolitan contexts Departing from the oft repeated explanations of Muslim scholarship and modern Islam through the lens of traditionalism and modernism it discovers how Muslim scholars viewed themselves in relation to the Islamic tradition and how they imagined and assessed their past intellectual heritage Studying the history of the interpretation of the Qur an in the multiple contexts of nineteenth and early twentieth century British India the book will be of interest to readers of Qur anic studies modern Islam and South Asian studies
