

The Sansui AX-7 mixer with reverb is a unique new component that is ideal for every musician, audiophile and serious recordist. With an AX-7 you can create professional quality recordings at home, using your existing high fidelity components. You don't have to spend money to redesign your entire high fidelity system. You can experience a whole new world of recording for about $280 (suggested retail price).

Mix up to 4 live or recorded sources and then remix using 3 stereo tape decks. Produce your own demos and masters complete with sound effects.

The possibilities are limitless. Combine the input from any of your high fidelity components, such as your tuner or amplified turntable, with musical instrument pickup, vocal or any other source. You can pan from left to right or any point in between.

To add a new and unusual dimension to your recordings you can add precisely controlled amounts of reverberation to one or more of the four main inputs. Add a lot, add a little. It's your show.

Each input has its own individual level control and 20dB switchable attenuator to prevent overloading. You may get carried away but your AX-7 won't. For the optimum in tonal quality, the AX-7's special adaptor circuits allow the insertion of equalization, noise reduction, decoders and other audio processing devices. And the Sansui AX-7 mixer with reverb is mountable in any EIA standard-width rack.

Ready for a hands-on demonstration of this unique new component? Just see your franchised Sansui dealer. He'll show you a whole new world of musical pleasure.
