George Cukor Gene D. Phillips, 1982 Arguing that a director alone can and must confer artistic unity on a motion picture Phillips traces George Cukor's background as a stage director and movie dialogue coach His discussions of the films are organized thematically making it possible to treat as a whole the Tracy and Hepburn vehicles the many adaptations of stage plays and novels and the few but striking musicals He also examines Cukor's considerable reputation as a woman's director and concludes that the indefatigably professional Cukor is the prototype of the ideal Hollywood director uncompromising and able to weather the vicissitudes of public taste and studio interference
