The Handbook of Security Martin Gill, 2022-06-22 The substantially revised third edition of The Handbook of Security provides the most comprehensive analysis of scholarly security debates and issues to date. It reflects the developments in security technology, the convergence of the cyber and security worlds, and the fact that security management has become even more business focused. It covers newer topics like terrorism, violence, and cybercrime through various offence types such as commercial robbery and bribery. This handbook comprises mostly brand new chapters and a few thoroughly revised chapters with discussions of the impact of the pandemic. It includes contributions from some of the world's leading scholars from an even broader geographic scale to critique the way security is provided and managed. It speaks to professionals working in security and students studying security related courses. Chapter 5 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com.
The Business of Television Ken Basin, 2018-07-11 In this book, esteemed television executive and Harvard lecturer Ken Basin offers a comprehensive overview of the business, financial, and legal structure of the U.S. television industry, as well as its dealmaking norms. Written for working or aspiring creative professionals who want to better understand the entertainment industry, as well as for executives, agents, managers, and lawyers looking for a reference guide, The Business of Television presents a readable, in-depth introduction to rights and talent negotiations, intellectual property, backend deals, licensing, streaming platforms, international production, and much more. The book also includes breakdowns after each chapter summarizing deal points and points of negotiation, a glossary, a list of referenced cases, and a wealth of real-world examples to help readers put the material into context.
The Twin Film Phenomenon Lauren Rosewarne, 2025-11-18 This book examines the recurring phenomenon in film and television where two strikingly similar productions are released in close succession. Examples include Armageddon 1998 and Deep Impact 1998, A Bug's Life 1998 and Antz 1998, and more recently the 2019 Fyre Festival documentaries and the 2024 Prince Andrew docudramas. Drawing from hundreds of cases, this book explores why these twin productions emerge, the industrial and creative forces that drive them, and how they reflect broader trends in media history. Situating this pattern within the fields of remake, adaptation, and media multiplicities studies, this book provides a comprehensive analysis of this largely understudied yet pervasive phenomenon. Each chapter examines different motivations behind the creation of twin films and TV shows, from economic imperatives and competitive market dynamics to shared cultural anxieties and trends in audience demand. This book presents a meticulous catalogue of examples demonstrating how genres and themes gain traction simultaneously across different studios and networks. In addition to offering historical insights, this book engages with contemporary debates on media repetition, nostalgia, and Hollywood's fixation on reproducing familiar narratives. Written by an author with extensive expertise in media studies, this book combines exhaustive research with a clear, accessible style, making it an essential resource for understanding the mechanisms behind content duplication in the entertainment industry. Academically, this book contributes to scholarship in film television and media studies by applying an interdisciplinary approach that integrates political science feminist theory and cultural analysis It draws on close readings of films industry reports and a dataset of critical reviews to provide fresh perspectives on media production and consumption As a valuable resource for students and scholars alike it enriches discussions on screen media industrial production and the cultural forces shaping contemporary entertainment

Crisis and Terror in the Age of Anxiety Luke Howie, Perri Campbell, 2017-04-20 This book confronts the issues young people face growing up in the confusion and anxiety of today's highly global society Young people face their futures consumed with feelings of doubt uncertainty and ambivalence The Global Financial Crisis and the rise of the Islamic State means young people are transitioning into adulthood in a time that we call an age of anxiety They may be the first generation to have fewer opportunities than their parents yet despite this they are learning to imagine other kinds of futures These are futures where economic collapse provides opportunities for entrepreneurialism and innovation where Islamic State does not need to pose a clear and present danger and where political action provides hope for a better world Dealing with the current political and economic climate and progressive campaigns such as Black Lives Matter Howie and Campbell tackle some of the biggest threats to the future of society An innovative and wide reaching study this book will be of particular interest to scholars of human geography disaster studies politics and sociology

Millennial Masculinity Timothy Shary, 2012-12-17 Film and television scholars as well as readers interested in gender and sexuality in film will appreciate this timely collection
