Oxford Guide To Film Studies Table Of Contents:

European Cinema Thomas Elsaesser, 2025-10-01 In the face of renewed competition from Hollywood since the early 1980s and the challenges posed to Europe's national cinemas by the fall of the Wall in 1989 independent filmmaking in Europe has begun to re-invent itself European Cinema Face to Face with Hollywood re-assesses the different debates and presents a broader framework for understanding the forces at work since the 1960s These include the interface of world cinema and the rise of Asian cinemas the importance of the international film festival circuit the role of television as well as the changing aesthetics of auteur cinema New audiences have different allegiances and new technologies enable networks to reshape identities but European cinema still has an important function in setting critical and creative agendas even as its economic and institutional bases are in transition

Compositional Subjects Laura Hyun Yi Kang, 2002-06-19 Traces the way Asian American women have been represented in film literature and political economy

The Hollywood Renaissance Peter Krämer, Yannis Tzioumakis, 2018-06-28 In December 1967 Time magazine put Bonnie and Clyde on its cover and proudly declared that Hollywood cinema was undergoing a renaissance For the next few years a wide range of formally and thematically challenging films were produced at the very centre of the American film industry often but by no means always combining success at the box office with huge critical acclaim both then and later This collection brings together acknowledged experts on American cinema to examine thirteen key films from the years 1966 to 1974 starting with Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf a major studio release which was in effect exempted from Hollywood's Production Code and thus helped to liberate American filmmaking from self-censorship Long-standing taboos to do with sex violence race relations drugs politics religion and much else could now be broken often in conjunction with extensive stylistic experimentation Whereas most previous scholarship has examined these developments through the prism of auteurism with its tight focus on film directors and their oeuvres the contributors to this collection also carefully examine production histories and processes In doing so they pay particular attention to the economic underpinnings and collaborative nature of filmmaking the influence of European art cinema as well as of exploitation experimental and underground films and the connections between cinema and other media notably publishing music and theatre Several chapters show how the innovations of the Hollywood Renaissance relate to further changes in American cinema from the mid 1970s onwards
