

Capstone Case: New Century Wellness Group – Chapter 10

New Century Wellness Group offers a holistic approach to healthcare with an emphasis on preventive medicine as well as traditional medical care. In your role as an IT consultant, you will help New Century develop a new information system.

Background

The New Century partners has accepted and approved your design and system specifications detailed within your documentation and deliverables. In addition, due to HIPPA concerns, it has been determined that best short-term data storage and phase 1 system solution is to implement and configure a server and desktop computer clients on a local area network (no cloud-based services except backups at this point).

To review, New Century Wellness Group has four primary care physicians, one nurse practitioner, four physical therapists, one registered nutritionist, ten nurses, five medical technicians, six business managers (including an overall office manager), and fourteen support staff people. Each of the examination rooms, physicians' offices, nutritionist's office, managers' offices, and each support staff needs their own workstation. Each physician's office and the nutritionist's office will have small low-volume printers that will still be attached to the network. The nurses' station will have three workstations with a single all-in-one high-volume network laser printer and scanner attached to the network. The therapists' and technicians' station will have two workstations also with a high-volume printer and scanner. The main desk or reception (check-in/check-out) area will have a networked impact printer for multipart forms and a high-volume laser printer that will also be networked. Finally, the office will have a single high-volume, all-in-one copy/printer at a central office location that will be networked as well. The company has decided to utilize an online, cloud-based backup solution for all critical data and systems. A single Internet access service through fiber optic cable will be shared throughout the office and will be delivered through a local provider.

At this point in time, the organization already owns half of the required workstations and all but the three new high-volume printers needed for the nurses' station, the therapists' and technicians' station, and the front-desk area.

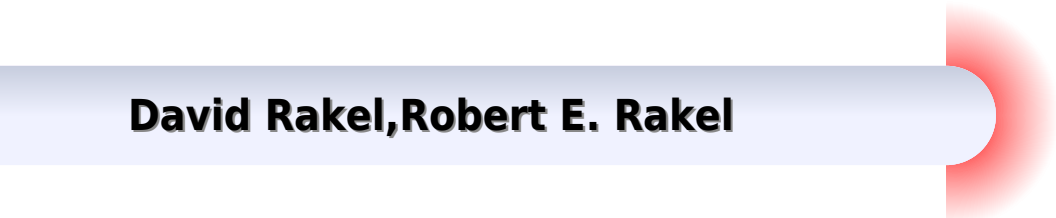

The partners want you to ensure the physical network is scalable, and able to handle the phase 2 medical support system with electronic medical records after the business support system is implemented. The organization is thinking about also providing physicians and nurses with portable tablets to enter and access patient information as the medical experts move around the clinic from room to room and from patient to patient.

Tasks

1. In a piece of software, draw a simple floor plan for New Century Wellness group and include the placement of all network nodes including the placement of a server, and network equipment. How many ports will your switch need to accommodate?
2. Using the work product from Task 1, provide a relevant itemized basic time and materials cost for the purchase, installation, and configuration of all hardware components.
3. New Century asked about using a wireless network within their office. Document the benefits and drawbacks of using a wireless network? Should this be considered? Why or why not? If the organization wants to use tablets carried from room-to-room by the medical experts, how can this be done safely?
