Getting Things Done Virpi Malin,Jonathan Murphy,Marjo Siltaoja,2013-09-23 This book explores the possibility of a progressive and transformative management which while grounded in the analytic tradition and values of CMS also confronts practical demands of meeting social needs What Postcolonial Theory Doesn't Say Anna Bernard,Ziad Elmarsafy,Stuart Murray,2015-08-11 This book reclaims postcolonial theory addressing persistent limitations in the geographical disciplinary and methodological assumptions of its dominant formations It emerges however from an investment in the future of postcolonial studies and a commitment to its basic premise namely that literature and culture are fundamental to the response to structures of colonial and imperial domination To a certain extent postcolonial theory is a victim of its own success not least because of the institutionalization of the insights that it has enabled Now that these insights no longer seem new it is hard to know what the field should address beyond its general commitments Yet the renewal of popular anti imperial energies across the globe provides an important opportunity to reassert the political and theoretical value of the postcolonial as a comparative interdisciplinary and oppositional paradigm This collection makes a claim for what postcolonial theory can say through the work of scholars articulating what it still cannot or will not say It explores ideas that a more aesthetically sophisticated postcolonial theory might be able to address focusing on questions of visibility performance and literariness Contributors highlight some of the shortcomings of current postcolonial theory in relation to contemporary political developments such as Zimbabwean land reform postcommunism and the economic rise of Asia Finally they address the disciplinary geographical and methodological exclusions from postcolonial studies through a detailed focus on new disciplinary directions management studies international relations disaster studies overlooked locations and perspectives Palestine Weimar Germany the commons and the necessity of materialist analysis for understanding both the contemporary world and world literary systems

The Justice Factory Richard Clements, 2024-01-18 Spend time at the International Criminal Court and you will hear the familiar language of anti impunity Spend longer and you will encounter the less familiar language of management efficiency risk and performance and tools of strategic planning audit and performance appraisal How have these two languages fused within the primary institution of global justice This book explores that question through an historical and conceptually layered account of management s effects on the ICC s global justice project It historicises management forcing international lawyers to look at the sites of struggle from the plantation to the United Nations that have shaped the court s managerial present It traces the court s macro micro and meso scales of management showing how such practices have fashioned a vision of global justice at organisational professional and argumentative levels And it asks how those who care about global justice might engage with managerial justice at an institution animated by forms reforms and the promise of optimisation

Critical management studies in the South African context Geoff A. Goldman, C.W. Callaghan, Gregory John Lee, Nthabiseng V. Moraka, Hester Nienaber, Shaun Ruggunan, Whitey (Tjaart Nicholaas) van der Linde, 2016-12-31 The purpose of this book is to establish the first formalised scholarly work on critical management studies CMS in the South African context The book is a collection of seven chapters six of which employ a conceptual methodology and one of which follows an interpretive paradigm employing qualitative methods of inquiry CMS is a relatively young school of thought arising in the early 1990s and still very much a peripheral movement within the academic discipline of management South Africa has very little scholarship on CMS as precious few scholars work in this space Furthermore publication opportunities are virtually non existent as CMS is virtually unknown in the South African community of management scholars Thus this book represents the first academic work on CMS published in South Africa written and reviewed by scholars who are familiar with the field The primary target readership would be management academics but it could also be a useful reference for postgraduate students in management

Organization as Communication Steffen Blaschke, Dennis Schoeneborn, 2016-12-08 The idea that communication constitutes organization

CCO provides a unique perspective to organization studies by highlighting the fundamental and formative role of communication for organizational phenomena of various kinds. The book features original works that address the idea of organization as communication in the light of other theories, related concepts as well as the tension between strategy and emergence. The first set of chapters discusses the idea of organization communication in the light of critical works of European scholars Habermas, Honneth, and G. nther. The second set of chapters reflects on a range of concepts such as institutions, routines, and leadership from a CCO perspective. The final set of chapters examines the tension between strategic and emergent communication by drawing on new methodology and empirical evidence. The chapters are set into dialogue with some of the most prominent proponents of CCO scholarship. The book offers an important contribution to CCO thinking by adding European perspectives on organization as communication. It connects the primarily North American approach and European traditions of theoretical thought to existing debates in communication and organization studies.

Gossip, Organization and Work Kathryn Waddington, 2021-12-30. The premise of this book is that research into gossip, organization, and work is an important idea whose time has come. A key feature of the book is the inclusion of practice points showing how and where theory and/or research intersect with practice and vice versa. They are intended as signposts to future thinking and theorizing, tempting readers to venture outside of their home disciplines and territories, conceptual comfort zones, and methodological mindsets. The overall aim of the book is to: i) provide enough information for readers to decide where they might want to go next; ii) offer some theoretical directions and ethical principles; and iii) make suggestions regarding what academic/practitioner tools and techniques will help them along the way, including arts-based and mixed methods research that focuses on real-world lived experiences of gossip. It will be relevant to researchers at all stages of their career, from students at the start of their academic journey to seasoned scholars with more extensive experience. The book is also intended to be readable and relevant to practitioners with academic interests who seek to reflect critically upon and develop their practice in times of turbulence and change, and in the COVID-19 era.

Justifying Entrepreneurship Devi Akella, Niveen L. Eid, 2023-11-14. This book on entrepreneurship compiles a series of evidence-based episodes from the lives of the marginalized and the minority-oriented entrepreneurs to comprehend whether entrepreneurship is truly a socio-economic emancipatory strategy. Varying experiences of entrepreneurs from different geographical territories, origins, and gender are examined under a critical lens to deconstruct its emancipatory potential and appreciate its power in generating human freedom, equal opportunities, and in uplifting the oppressed and suppressed classes globally. In specific, the book explores entrepreneurs located in two geographically diverse regions across the world: the social entrepreneurs in the contested region of Palestine and the black and ethnic entrepreneurial group based in Georgia, United States. The book is a planned and purposeful compilation of raw, i.e., in terms of emotions and feelings, untold stories of entrepreneurs who have embraced entrepreneurship to eradicate their harsh realities and subsequently emancipate themselves. The book integrates a critical perspective encompassing a variety of theoretical frameworks such as critical race theory critical theory critical realism and different power modalities and philosophies to investigate the emancipatory potential of entrepreneurship and justify it as a socio economic emancipatory strategy This book ventures into the murky and dark waters of entrepreneurship by exploring this concept within the black and immigrant communities as a collective social entrepreneurship reform movement female entrepreneurship informal entrepreneurship operating under occupation to provide detailed insights on bricolage and other complexed economic issues Proceedings of AC 2018 in Prague Group of Authors,2018-08-07 International Academic Conferences in Prague August 10 13 2018 The Routledge Companion to Philosophy in Organization Studies Raza Mir,Hugh Willmott,Michelle Greenwood,2015-11-06 The Routledge Companion to Philosophy in Organization Studies provides a wide ranging overview of the significance of philosophy in organizations The volume brings together a veritable who s who of scholars that are acclaimed international experts in their specialist subject within organizational studies and philosophy The contributions to this collection are grouped into three distinct sections Foundations exploring philosophical building blocks with which organizational researchers need to become familiar Theories representing some of the dominant traditions in organizational studies and how they are dealt with philosophically Topics examining the issues themes and topics relevant to understanding how philosophy infuses organization studies Primarily aimed at students and academics associated with business schools and organizational research The Routledge Companion to Philosophy in Organization Studies is a valuable reference source for anyone engaged in this field
