Dugua, 2005-01-14 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geophysical Monograph Series Volume 163 The North with its vast and varied landscapes sparse population and cold climate has always challenged its explorers physically mentally logistically and technically The scientific community in particular has known such challenges in the past and does so today especially in light of the projected intensification of climate change at high latitudes Indeed there are clear signs that change is already ongoing in many environmental variables Air temperature and annual precipitation including snowfall are increasing in many regions spring snow cover extent is decreasing lake and river ice freeze up dates are occurring later and breakup dates earlier glaciers are retreating rapidly permafrost temperatures are increasing and in many cases the permafrost is thawing and sea ice extent is at record minimums and thinning

Proceedings of the Western Snow Conference ,2003 Principles of Snow Hydrology David R. DeWalle, Albert Rango, 2008-07-03 Principles of Snow Hydrology describes the factors that control the accumulation melting and runoff of water from seasonal snowpacks over the surface of the earth The book addresses not only the basic principles governing snow in the hydrologic cycle but also the latest applications of remote sensing and techniques for modeling streamflow from snowmelt across large mixed land use river basins Individual chapters are devoted to climatology and distribution of snow snowpack energy exchange snow chemistry ground based measurements and remote sensing of snowpack characteristics snowpack management and modeling snowmelt runoff Many chapters have review questions and problems with solutions available online This book is a reference book for practicing water resources managers and a text for advanced hydrology and water resources courses which span fields such as engineering earth sciences meteorology biogeochemistry forestry and range management and water resources planning Energy: A Continuing Bibliography with Indexes, Issue 34, 1982

Third Forest Vegetation Simulator Conference, 2008 The Forest Vegetation Simulator FVS is a suite of computer modeling tools for predicting the long term effects of alternative forest management actions FVS was developed in the early 1980s and is used throughout the United States and British Columbia The Third FVS conference held February 13 15 2007 in Fort Collins Colorado contains 20 papers They describe the use of FVS on the stand and landscape scale and to analyze fuels management in the presence of insects and fire Several papers compare FVS predictions of the effects of insects and disease to field measurements FVS is continually evolving and improving in technology and capability to meet the needs of its ever increasing user community Papers describe new methods for data acquisition and preparation for input to FVS new economic analysis capabilities within FVS new methods for simulating forest regeneration new developments in calculating growth and mortality and future plans for incorporating the effects of climate change in model simulations NASA SP., 1962

Analysis and Modelling of Water Supply and Demand Under Climate Change, Land Use Transformation and Socio-Economic Development Katharina Fricke, 2013-12-12 Located in a narrow grassland corridor between the semi desert and a mountain range in Northwest China the research area Urumqi Region is despite its semi arid climate in a relatively favourable hydrological situation The nearby mountains provide water for settlements and agriculture making human development possible in the first place Due to the development of agriculture population and economy during the last sixty years and the increasing water consumption a demand and population driven water scarcity exists today and is expected to aggravate At the same time the effects of climate change and land use transformations on the hydrological system and the water availability are uncertain This study evaluates the recent and future situation by combining a hydrological water balance model for the simulation of the water supply based on scenarios of climate and land use change with a socio economic model for projecting the future water demand including predicted growth of population and economy Fifth recent advances in quantitative remote sensing José Antonio Sobrino Rodríguez, 2018-12-14 The Fifth International Symposium on Recent Advances in Quantitative Remote Sensing was held in Torremolinos Spain from 18 to 22 September 2018 It was sponsored and organized by the Global Change Unit GCU from the Image Processing Laboratory IPL University of Valencia UVEG Spain This Symposium addressed the scientific advances in quantitative remote sensing in connection with real applications Its main goal was to assess the state of the art of both theory and applications in the analysis of remote sensing data as well as to provide a forum for researcher in this subject area to exchange views and report their latest results In this book 89 of the 262 contributions presented in both plenary and poster sessions are arranged according to the scientific topics selected The papers are ranked in the same order as the final programme ELECTRIMACS 2024 Enrique Belenguer,Hector Beltran,2025-01-30 This book collects a selection of papers presented at ELECTRIMACS 2024 The conference papers deal with modelling simulation analysis control power management design optimization machine learning techniques and identification and diagnostics in electrical power engineering The main application fields include electric machines and electromagnetic devices power electronics transportation systems smart grids electric and hybrid vehicles renewable energy and energy storage systems batteries supercapacitors and fuel cells and wireless power transfer among others Contributions included in Volume 1 are particularly focused on electrical engineering simulation aspects and innovative applications Recent Developments in Structural Engineering, Volume 1 Manmohan Dass Goel,Ratnesh Kumar,Sangeeta S. Gadve,2024-05-02 The book presents the select proceedings of 13th Structural Engineering Convention It covers the latest research in multidisciplinary areas within structural engineering Various topics covered include structural dynamics structural mechanics finite element methods structural vibration control advanced cementitious and composite materials bridge engineering soil structure interaction blast impact fire material and many more The book will be a useful reference material for structural engineering researchers and practicing engineers
