Moderators and Mediators of Youth Treatment Outcomes Marija Maric, Pier J. M. Prins, Thomas H. Ollendick, 2015 The study of moderation and mediation of youth treatment outcomes has been recognized as enormously beneficial in recent years. However, these benefits have never been fully documented or understood by researchers, clinicians, and students in training. After nearly 50 years of youth treatment outcome research, identifying moderators and mediators is the natural next step, shifting focus to mechanisms responsible for improved outcomes, identifying youth who will benefit from certain treatments, or who are in need of alternative treatments, and recognizing the challenges associated with the study of moderators and mediators and their routine use in clinical practice. Moderators and Mediators of Youth Treatment Outcomes examines conceptual and methodological challenges related to the study of moderation and mediation and illustrates potential treatment moderators and mediators for specific disorders. The volume also considers empirical evidence for treatment moderators and mediators of specific disorders and illustrates how theoretical and empirical knowledge regarding moderators and mediators can be harnessed and disseminated to clinical practice. This book will be invaluable to researchers conducting treatment outcome studies, both efficacy and effectiveness; clinicians interested in evidence-based work and in understanding for whom and why certain treatments work; and students of clinical child and adolescent psychology and psychiatry.

Childhood Trauma in Mental Disorders Gianfranco Spalletta,Delfina Janiri,Federica Piras,Gabriele Sani,2020-08-29 This volume presents a comprehensive overview of childhood trauma considering the psychopathological definition and its neurobiological implications as well as its impact on different psychiatric disorders The focus on childhood trauma rather than that occurring in adulthood is important due to its general neuro psyco socio and its specific biological implications since trauma during childhood impacts directly on neurodevelopment It has been suggested that early life stress increases vulnerability to psychiatric disorders however the exact mechanisms of this association are not yet completely understood Although childhood trauma could be considered too unspecific to be an important risk factor for individual psychiatric disorders since it seems to occur across the board it impacts differently on different psychiatric disorders and it can modulate their clinical expression Therefore the assessment of early trauma needs to be included in the clinical evaluation of patients with psychiatric disorders The volume will be an invaluable tool for psychiatrists helping them to select suitable pharmacological psychotherapeutic and rehabilitative treatments
