

SAFETY CULTURE SURVEY: QUESTIONNAIRE

Instructions:

This survey has been developed to assess the attitude towards safety within this organisation and, if necessary, what we can do to improve it. All results will be combined for analysis and no individual results will be kept. Remember – we are not looking for right or wrong answers. We want to know what your thoughts are about the safety culture of this organisation.

Please tick ONE box only for each question.

Organisational Safety Culture Models - A business guide for developing corporate safety maturity Marcell Greeff, 2023-05-31. During his career, Dr Greeff has consistently found that most corporate organisations do not have or are struggling to design a system model to assess and mature their organisational safety culture. To address this gap, this book outlines the research of Dr Marcell Greeff, who has evaluated international Organisational Safety Culture Maturity Development Models to produce this business guide for corporate organisations as well as students to develop a unique Organisational Safety Culture Maturity Development Model that can measure and improve its safety culture. Dr Greeff introduces leading safety culture models used internationally and details how corporations could possibly adopt suitable culture components from these models towards future safety culture assessing and maturing their own Organisational Safety Culture. The research objectives of this book are to examine the theories and concepts of Organisational Safety Culture Maturity Development Models and identify why it would be beneficial for organisations to improve its Organisational Safety Culture. To explore Organisational Safety Culture in Organisations and to critically evaluate how international Organisational Safety Culture Maturity Development Models can be adopted/adapted to improve Organisational Safety Culture in an Organisation. The research philosophy for this research is pragmatism, following an explanatory study, since a hypothesis was developed from the research question, which is proven true by following an inductive and deductive research approach. This study conducts a critical literature review to identify five Organisational Safety Culture Maturity Development Models as secondary data, followed by a quantitative analysis through a desk study to critically review and identify the most popular culture components used by these models through a quantitative analysis. The primary data was collected by using a survey strategy utilising a semi-structured interview questionnaire using both qualitative and quantitative designed questions, mixed method, to generate and collect ample enough primary data from a limited number of units of analysis: HSE professionals/specialists. The key findings of this book include a clear roadmap on how to use research methodology effectively in the design of a fit-for-purpose Organisational Safety Culture Maturity Development Model, guiding students as well as organisations on best practice and world-class standards available. This book is intended to assist anyone who needs to work towards understanding, assessing, and developing organizational safety culture.

Mine Safety Neil Gunningham, 2007. Historically, the mining industry has had a high incidence of work related injury and disease and of disasters involving multiple fatalities It also faces OHS challenges far exceeding those confronting most other industry sectors Mine safety legislation can play an important role in meeting those challenges Although regulation is never likely to be the entire answer good regulation not only brings laggards up to a minimum legal standard it also encourages rewards and facilitates leaders in going beyond them Bad regulation in contrast constrains good enterprises from taking the initiative to improve OHS while failing to deter bad ones This book describes mine safety legislation in the mining states and analyses its strengths and weaknesses It also examines the broader policy questions of how best to design implement and enforce mine safety regulation It argues that substantial reform will be necessary not only in setting standards but also in their implementation if further OHS improvements are to be achieved This implies substantial changes in the way the mine safety inspectorates go about their tasks in how they administer and enforce the law and in the circumstances in which they choose to prosecute It also requires the nurturing of a degree of trust between employers and workers individually and collectively and between both these parties and the mines inspectorates that has been substantially lacking in recent years

Textbook of Medical Administration and Leadership Erwin Loh,Paul W. Long,2023-10-29 This textbook covers all general areas of knowledge required for a trainee generalist medical administrator and doctor undergoing training to be a medical administrator specialist. Chapters cover all the key topics on medical administration and leadership. Some of the key topics included are health systems and policy, health law, private health and insurance, health disaster planning, population and public health, health information and technology, and health economics and financial management. Medical practitioners of today are part of huge changes in medical practice as continuing developments are happening in biomedical sciences and clinical practice with new health priorities, rising expectations among patients and the public, and changing societal attitudes. Consequently, basic knowledge and skills while fundamentally important are not enough today on their own, and doctors thus need to demonstrate leadership combined with sound management skills to drive the necessary changes required to meet the challenges ahead. This book serves as an invaluable resource for a wide spectrum of physicians including specialists, clinician managers, and other health professionals as well as non-clinical managers working in health. This is a gateway text for trainees in medical administration, specialist medical administrators, aspiring medical managers, health service managers, and heads of service and departments in various medical specialties.
