Systematics and Evolution David McLaughlin, Joseph W. Spatafora, 2000-09-22 Mycology the study of fungi originated as a subdiscipline of botany and was a descriptive discipline largely neglected as an experimental science until the early years of this century A seminal paper by Blakeslee in 1904 provided evidence for self incompatibility termed heterothallism and stimulated interest in studies related to the control of sexual reproduction in fungi by mating type specificities Soon to follow was the demonstration that sexually reproducing fungi exhibit Mendelian inheritance and that it was possible to conduct formal genetic analysis with fungi The names Burgeff Kniep and Lindegren are all associated with this early period of fungal genetics research These studies and the discovery of penicillin by Fleming who shared a Nobel Prize in 1945 provided further impetus for experimental research with fungi Thus began a period of interest in mutation induction and analysis of mutants for biochemical traits Such fundamental research conducted largely with Neurospora crassa led to the one gene one enzyme hypothesis and to a second Nobel Prize for fungal research awarded to Beadle and Tatum in 1958 Fundamental research in biochemical genetics was extended to other fungi especially to Saccharomyces cerevisiae and by the mid 1960s fungal systems were much favored for studies in eukaryotic molecular biology and were soon able to compete with bacterial systems in the molecular arena

Computer assisted vegetation analysis E. Feoli, L. Orlóci, 2012-12-06 There are many books and computer programs dealing look ahead rather than pondering the past This is a with data analysis It would be easy to count at least a manual of recent views that evolved in the study of hundred yet few of these would show applications in vegetation This book is intended to emphasize the new vegetation science Today in the face of environmental acquisitions which we believe significantly affect the degradation caused by anthropogenic pressures on the future of vegetation analysis biosphere there is added urgency to study vegetation 1 Vegetation is a fuzzy system it must be treated as processes and dynamics in order to understand their role such at the set level where the idea of conceptualized in regulating the water oxygen and the carbon cycles in patterns must drive the research design relation to global warming and ozone layer depletion It 2 Vegetation cannot be seen only in the perspective of a is well known that ecology was developed first in vegetation traditional taxonomy based on the species concept tion studies see Acot 1989 but after an active period character sets of ecological value must enter into marked by intensive phytoclimatic and synecological consideration and a hierarchical analysis of patterns studies vegetation science entered in a rather dormant and processes should be the basis of comparisons
