Rilla's siblings Nan, Di, and Walter return to Redmond College and Shirley returns to Queen's Academy, leaving Rilla anxiously alone at home with her parents, their spinster housekeeper Susan Baker, and Gertrude Oliver, a teacher who is boarding with the Blythes while her fiancé reports to the front. As the war drags on, Rilla matures, organizing the Junior Red Cross in her village. While collecting donations for the war effort, she comes across a house where a young mother has just died with her husband away at war, leaving no one to care for her two-week-old son. Rilla takes the sickly little boy back to Ingleside in a soup tureen, naming him James Kitchener Anderson after his father and Herbert Kitchener, British Secretary of State for War. Rilla's father, Gilbert, challenges her to raise the war orphan, and although she doesn't like babies at all, she rises to the occasion, eventually coming to love Jims as her own. She also assists in the elopement of a soldier whose beloved is the daughter of the town's only vocal pacifist. The pacifist's attempts to oppose fund-raising for the war effort or to criticize the war while leading prayers are a recurring minor storyline.
