

Practice Reading Tests - Year 6 - The Digestive System

Read all the food text then answer the questions.

The Digestive System

Have you ever wondered what happens to your food after you've chewed it in your mouth?

Your body is amazing and has a system that sorts and uses the food you eat to make sure you get everything you need to stay healthy. It's called your digestive system. Here's how it works...

Before the Stomach

Firstly, we all know that you eat food in your mouth so what is 'chewing' the food and the texture of the food whilst your teeth break it down into smaller pieces. Saliva is then mixed with it to help make it softer and break it down. Also, your mouth sends it all down to it so it can be absorbed and prepared for you to swallow.

When the food is broken down enough, it is swallowed and goes down to your stomach via a tube called the oesophagus (pronounced 'owf' or 'o'ph). Muscles in the oesophagus move it down to move the food down to your stomach. These muscles are so good at this job that they could eat you the food to your stomach if you were standing on your head! (Don't try this though!)

Food Fibre

The average adult eats about 100kg of food per year.

Your body can produce up to 1.5 litres of saliva every day.

An adult oesophagus is about 25cm long.

A company has been invented now that is as small as a pill (called Pillcam). It can be swallowed as it passes through your oesophagus in order to take photos of the inside of your body. It can take up to 50,000 pictures over the 8 hours that it's in there! It's been used since 2002 to let doctors see inside patients.

At the Stomach

When the food has moved up and down food arrives in the stomach which is an amazing well shaped like a letter 'J'. It is mixed with acid and enzymes (pronounced 'enzymes') so strong that break the food down. When the food is broken down, it turns a lot like porridge. It is a substance called chyme. The stomach juice also help to kill any bad bacteria that might be in the food, which could potentially make you ill.

Practice Reading Tests - Year 6 - The Digestive System

Read all the food text then answer the questions.

After the Stomach

The next part of the journey for your food (which doesn't look like food anymore) is through the small intestine. It's here that all the goodness is taken out of the food, which goes off to different places in the body for you to use.

When the small intestine has done its job of getting all the goodness out of the food, all the material that is unwanted goes into the large intestine. Then, it makes its way out of the body as part of the end of the large intestine.

So there you have it, isn't your body clever?
