

15 ans d'engagement auprès des enfants sourds de Madagascar

Depuis 2001, sous l'impulsion du Docteur Pierre Damon et de Dominique Wernert, le laboratoire Acoustique Wernert participe et soutient l'Ecole SE.MA.TO, à Tamatave (SEkoly MARnina TOamasina : Ecole pour Sourds de Tamatave).

Tamatave (Toamasina) est la seconde ville Malgache derrière la capitale Antananarivo. L'activité économique y est importante grâce à son port international.

L'Ecole SE.MA.TO, se situe dans un quartier défavorisé de la ville et prend en charge une soixantaine d'enfants malentendants et sourds profonds. Ces enfants sont scolarisés dès trois ans autour de la langue des signes afin d'apprendre les bases de l'enseignement pour savoir au moins lire et écrire.

Vers l'âge de 16 ans, les élèves "choisissent" un apprentissage et sont orientés vers une autre école. Les filles peuvent faire de la couture, pour les garçons c'est la menuiserie. Le choix est restreint mais leur permet malgré tout d'obtenir du travail.

Sur l'effectif complet, une vingtaine d'enfants présentant essentiellement des surdités sévères peut bénéficier de l'aide d'un appareillage auditif. Nous recyclons d'anciens contours donnés par nos patients et aussi certains contours neufs mais désuets offerts par nos fabricants (Widex, Phonak, Oticon et Siemens).

Chaque année, une mission sur place permet d'apporter petit à petit du matériel et d'assurer la continuité des apprentissages auditifs.

Notre action consiste principalement à l'appareillage de nouveaux élèves, au suivi auditif des enfants mais aussi à l'entretien et au renouvellement des aides auditives.

Entre temps, les professeurs de l'école sont présents et formés pour assurer la gestion "courante" des appareils auditifs.

Fighting and Writing Luise White, 2021-02-08 In Fighting and Writing Luise White brings the force of her historical insight to bear on the many war memoirs published by white soldiers who fought for Rhodesia during the 1964-1979 Zimbabwean liberation struggle In the memoirs of white soldiers fighting to defend white minority rule in Africa long after other countries were independent White finds a robust and contentious conversation about race difference and the war itself These are writings by men who were ambivalent conscripts generally aware of the futility of their fight not brutal pawns flawlessly executing the orders and parroting the rhetoric of a racist regime Moreover most of these men insisted that the most important aspects of fighting a guerrilla war tracking and hunting knowledge of the land and of the ways of African society were learned from black playmates in idealized rural childhoods In these memoirs African guerrillas never lost their association with the wild even as white soldiers boasted of bringing Africans into the intimate spaces of regiment and regime

The Politics of Nature and Science in Southern Africa Maano Ramutsindela, Giorgio Miescher, Melanie Boehi, 2016-09-12 This book brings together recent and ongoing empirical studies to examine two relational kinds of politics namely the politics of nature i.e. how nature conservation projects are sites on which power relations play out and the politics of the scientific study of nature These are discussed in their historical and present contexts and at specific sites on which particular human environment relations are forged or contested This spatio temporal juxtaposition is lacking in current research on political ecology while the politics of science appears marginal to critical scholarship on social nature Specifically the book examines power relations in nature related activities demonstrates conditions under which nature and science are politicised and also accounts for political interests and struggles over nature in its various forms The ecological socio political and economic dimensions of nature cannot be ignored when dealing with present day environmental issues Nature conservation regulations are concerned with the management of flora and fauna as much as with humans Various chapters in the book pay attention to the ways in which nature science and politics are interrelated and also co constitutive of each other They highlight that power relations are naturalised through science and science related institutions and projects such as museums botanical gardens wetlands parks and nature reserves The Politics of Distinction Mattia

Fernandez makes a major theoretical contribution to the literature on representative bureaucracy in demonstrating how descriptive representation translates into both active representation and better performance. His discussion of the crucial role of language and communication brings new insight to the literature on public administration and democracy. Kenneth Meier Distinguished Scholar in Residence American University. This study of public sector transformation goes beyond the descriptive qualitative research largely found in South African public administration historiography by undertaking sophisticated quantitative analysis to show that representation of previously historically disadvantaged groups under certain circumstances can improve the performance of public organizations. This is an excellent contribution not only to public administration scholarship in South Africa but also to the sparse literature on public organizations in developing countries. The book should be of great value to scholars and practitioners of public administration as well as to students of political science and organizational studies. Robert Cameron Professor University of Cape Town. This book provides an excellent analysis of the theory of representative bureaucracy in the context of South African post apartheid government. South Africa is an important and fascinating case. The work adds substantially to the literature on representative bureaucracy and will be of interest to all who are concerned with the effectiveness of government organizations. J. Edward Kellough Professor University of Georgia. Governments throughout the world seek to promote employment equity and ensure that bureaucracies are representative of the citizenry. South Africa offers a rare and fascinating case for exploring what happens to bureaucracies as they undergo demographic transformation. Grounded in the theory of representative bureaucracy and using a mixed methods approach this book explores how major changes in the demographics of the South African public service have affected the performance of the institution The empirical analysis offers compelling evidence that representative bureaucracies perform better As public organizations become increasingly representative by hiring historically disadvantaged persons especially Africans their performance improves controlling for a range of factors Evidence indicates representative bureaucracies perform better because they empathize with and advocate for historically disadvantaged communities are equipped with linguistic and cultural competencies to serve a diverse citizenry and can induce compliance cooperation and coproduction
