thought and decolonial theory are under enormous pressure as part of a global conservative backlash. However, this is also an exciting moment where new horizons of knowledge appear and new epistemic practices e.g. symmetry collaboration undisciplining gain traction. Through our critical engagements with structural, relational and personal aspects of knowing and unknowing, we work towards a greater multiplicity of knowledges and practices. Calling into question the asymmetrical global economy of knowledge and its uneven division of intellectual labour, our interdisciplinary volume explores what a decolonial horizon could entail for African Studies at the crossroads. Transforming Tertiary Agricultural Education in Africa David Kraybill, John Lynam, Adipala Ekwamu, 2021-11-24. Enormous changes are affecting African production agriculture, urbanization and food consumption patterns, requiring new approaches to training and knowledge generation and dissemination to achieve food security. Many agricultural universities and other tertiary agricultural education (TAE) organizations have been slow to respond, hindered by inadequate staffing and facilities and growing competition for funds. However, some African agricultural universities are transforming themselves and are achieving remarkable success. This book documents successful approaches to remaking TAE in Africa to inspire leaders both formal and informal of other TAE organizations. It emphasises adaptive strategies and processes creating an internal culture driven by stakeholder needs and where organizational transformation improves the quality and relevance of teaching, research and outreach. The chapters cover the role of TAE in agricultural transformation, trends in TAE in Africa, solutions to the rigour versus relevance dilemma, curriculum design informed by actual and emerging labour market conditions, innovation and entrepreneurship, TAE quality assurance and networking among TAE institutions.

African Media Space and Globalization Unwana Samuel Akpan, 2023-08-24. This book surveys the African media industry, examining various sections of the media at the elite level. Drawing on contributors from diverse regions and media and communication disciplines, the book provides definitive analyses of the switch from analogue to digital broadcasting in select African countries. This timely and relevant collection of essays covers trending topics in communication and media studies as scholars globally continue to examine the impact of digital technology on media practice, training and education. The contributors offer rich perspectives on crucial issues, blending practice and scholarship as former media practitioners and academics come together to fill a major gap in media practice and education in Africa. This book is a must read for anyone interested in the intersection of globalization and African media.

Information Literacy Skills and the Role of Social Media in Disseminating Scholarly Information in the 21st Century Baskaran, C., Dhanavandan, S., 2023-06-29. The storage of information lies within the basic components called binary devices and at present storage media falls into two categories: random and serial or sequential access, which require different amounts of time to access a given piece of data The typical serial access medium is magnetic tape which has a storage density that has increased considerably over the years Vast quantities of source data are collected digitized and compressed automatically by means of unique instruments in fields such as astronomy environmental monitoring scientific experimentation and modelling and national security Information capture that is generated by an individual in the form of packages of symbols called documents is accomplished by manual and increasingly automatic techniques Data that is entered into instruments manually such as keyboard strikes is a process that is comparatively slow and error prone and often requires the use of computer programs with supporting editing software for formatting grammar spelling and more With the evolution of technology and its impact on human society the social sciences have begun to describe this new version of society as a post industrial or the information knowledge society Such terms attempt to capture the unprecedented development and use of information and communication technologies and the fact that information generation processing and transmission have become the fundamental sources of productivity and power An exploration into the impacts of the modern knowledge society on the ways in which academic researchers utilize distribute and record data from their fields of study is necessary for further comprehension protection and maintenance of this ever expanding body of information

Agriculture and Ecosystem Resilience in Sub

Saharan Africa Yazidhi Bamutaze, Samuel Kyamanywa, Bal Ram Singh, Gorettie Nabanoga, Rattan Lal, 2019-05-22 This volume discusses emerging contexts of agricultural and ecosystem resilience in Sub-Saharan Africa as well as contemporary technological advances that have influenced African livelihoods. In six sections, the book addresses the sustainable development goals to mitigate the negative impacts on agricultural productivity brought about by climate change in Africa. Some of the challenges assessed include soil degradation, land use changes, natural resource mismanagement, declining crop productivity, and economic stagnation. This book will be of interest to researchers, NGOs, and development organizations. Section 1 focuses on climate risk management in tropical Africa. Section 2 addresses the water ecosystem agriculture nexus and identifies the best strategies for sustainable water use. Section 3 introduces Information Communication Technology (ICT) and how it can be used for ecosystem and human resilience to improve quality of life in communities. Section 4 discusses the science and policies of transformative agriculture, including challenges facing crop production and management. Section 5 addresses landscape processes, human security, and governance of agro-ecosystems. Section 6 concludes the book with chapters uniquely covering the gender dynamics of agricultural ecosystem and livelihood resilience.
