User's Guide for the Structured Clinical Interview for DSM-III-R Robert L. Spitzer, 1990 National Association of Broadcasters Engineering Handbook Garrison Cavell, 2017-07-28 The NAB Engineering Handbook is the definitive resource for broadcast engineers. It provides in depth information about each aspect of the broadcast chain from audio and video contribution through an entire broadcast facility all the way to the antenna. New topics include Ultra High Definition Television, Internet Radio, Interfacing and Streaming ATSC 3.0, Digital Audio Compression Techniques, Digital Television Audio Loudness Management and Video Format and Standards Conversion. Important updates have been made to incumbent topics such as AM, Shortwave FM and Television Transmitting Systems, Studio Lighting, Cameras and Principles of Acoustics. The big picture comprehensive nature of the NAB Engineering Handbook will appeal to all broadcast engineers, everyone from broadcast chief engineers who need expanded knowledge of all the specialized areas they encounter in the field to technologists in specialized fields like IT and RF who are interested in learning about unfamiliar topics. Chapters are written to be accessible and easy to understand by all levels of engineers and technicians. A wide range of related topics that engineers and technical managers need to understand are covered including broadcast documentation, FCC practices, technical standards, security, safety, disaster planning, facility planning, project management and engineering management.

High Performance Computing Alex Veidenbaum, Kazuki Joe, Hideharu Amano, Hideo Aiso, 2003-11-18 The 5th International Symposium on High Performance Computing (ISHPC V) was held in Odaiba, Tokyo, Japan, October 20-22, 2003. The symposium was thoughtfully planned, organized and supported by the ISHPC Organizing Committee and its collaborating organizations. The ISHPC V program included two keynote speeches, several invited talks, two panel discussions and technical sessions covering theoretical and applied research topics in high performance computing and representing both academia and industry. One of the regular sessions highlighted the research results of the ITBL project. ITBL is a Japanese national project started in 2001 with the objective of realizing a virtual joint research environment using information technology. ITBL aims to connect 100 supercomputers located in main Japanese scientific research laboratories via high speed networks. A total of 58 technical contributions from 11 countries were submitted to ISHPC V. Each paper received at least three peer reviews. After a thorough evaluation process, the program committee selected 14 regular 12-page papers for presentation at the symposium. In addition, several other papers with favorable reviews were recommended for a poster session presentation. They are also included in the proceedings as short 8-page papers. The program committee gave a distinguished paper award and a best student paper award to two of the regular papers. The distinguished paper award was given for Code and Data Transformations for Improving Shared Cache Performance on SMT Processors by Dimitrios S. Nikolopoulos. The best student paper award was given for Improving Memory Latency-Aware Fetch Policies for SMT Processors by Francisco J. Cazorla. Byte, 1991 Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports, 1986
