S A Military Army Application Forms 2016

Lindy Heinecken

S A Military Army Application Forms 2016:

South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heineken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security political and social environment since 1994. In South Africa's changed political state, how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy? This book presents an overview of the security environment, how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement, force preparation, force employment and force sustainability. The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force, the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy, recruitment and retention, military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment, gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged. HIV/AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness. In closing, the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation, spelling out some lessons learned. The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil-military relations of countries around the world.

South Africa and United Nations Peacekeeping Offensive Operations Antonio Garcia, 2018-08-17 The creation of the Force Intervention Brigade (FIB) as the sharp tactical edge of the United Nations Stabilisation Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUSCO) tasked with the neutralising of armed groups was a watershed moment in the history of modern peace missions. What was more significant was that sub-Saharan national leaders were instrumental in the creation of the FIB. South Africa, Tanzania and Malawi but lacked the resources to deploy such a force and consequently the brigade was deployed under the banner of the UN. With the legacy of an African Renaissance and its role in the conception of the FIB, South Africa remains a critical player in international peace and security in sub-Saharan Africa and therefore holds a key strategic role in achieving the FIB's objectives. This comes at a critical time where blue helmets are increasingly exposed to complex and challenging security contexts. The aim of this work is to provide a conceptual model for South African military future operations and UN offensive peacekeeping operations. In this undertaking, a layer of military and Clausewitzian theory is added to offensive peacekeeping operations. Furthermore, there are sections on operational constructs, capstone and operating concepts, doctrine and structural elements as well as a section on mine action. This book contributes towards an understanding of the nature of modern strategy through the lens of UN offensive peacekeeping operations and provides insights into operational challenges.

Foreign Policy in Post-Apartheid South Africa Adekeye Adebajo,Kudrat Virk,2017-12-18 South Africa is the most industrialized power in Africa It was rated the continent s largest economy in 2016 and is the only African member of the G20 It is also the only strategic partner of the EU in Africa Yet despite being so strategically and economically significant there is little scholarship that focuses on South Africa as a regional hegemon This book provides the first comprehensive assessment of South Africa s post Apartheid foreign policy Over its 23 chapters and with contributions from established Africa Western Asian and American scholars as well as diplomats and analysts the book examines the current pattern of the country s foreign relations in impressive detail The geographic and thematic coverage is extensive including chapters on the domestic imperatives of South Africa s foreign policy peace making defence and security bilateral relations in Southern Central West Eastern and North Africa bilateral relations with the US China Britain France and Japan the country s key external multilateral relations with the UN the BRICS economic grouping the African Caribbean and Pacific Group ACP as well as the EU and the World Trade Organization WTO An essential resource for researchers the book will be relevant to the fields of area studies foreign policy history international relations international law security studies political economy and development studies China's Relations with Africa Joshua Eisenman,David H. Shinn,2023-08-01 Since Xi Jinping s accession to power in 2012 nearly every aspect of China s relations with Africa has grown dramatically Beijing has increased the share of resources it devotes to African countries expanding military cooperation technological investment and educational and cultural programs as well as extending its political influence This book examines the full scope of contemporary political and security relations between China and Africa David H Shinn and Joshua Eisenman not only explain the specific tactics and methods that Beijing uses to build its strategic relations with African political and military elites but also contextualize and interpret them within China's larger geostrategy. They argue that the priorities of Chinese leaders including the conflation of threats to the Communist Party with threats to the country, a growing emphasis on relations in the Global South and a focus on countering U.S. hegemony have combined to elevate Africa's importance among policy makers in Beijing. Ranging from diplomacy and propaganda to arms sales and space cooperation from increasingly frequent People's Liberation Army Navy port calls in Africa to the rising number of African students studying in China, this book marshals extensive and compelling qualitative and quantitative evidence of the deepening ties between China and Africa. Drawing on two decades of systematic data and hundreds of surveys and in-person interviews, Shinn and Eisenman shed new light on the state of China-Africa relations today and consider what the future may hold.

Counter-Unmanned Aircraft System (CUAS) Capability for Battalion-and-Below Operations National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Army Science and Technology, Committee on Counter-Unmanned Aircraft System (CUAS) Capability for Battalion-and-Below Operations, 2018-03-29. The development of inexpensive small unmanned aircraft system (sUAS) technologies and the growing desire of hobbyists to have more and more capability have created a sustained sUAS industry; however, these capabilities are directly enabling the ability of adversaries to threaten U.S. interests. In response to these threats, the U.S. Army and other Department of Defense (DoD) organizations have invested significantly in counter-sUAS technologies, often focusing on detecting radio frequency transmissions by sUASs and/or their operators and jamming the radio frequency command and control links and Global Positioning System signals of individual sUASs. However, today's consumer and customized sUASs can increasingly operate without radio frequency command and control links by using automated target recognition and tracking, obstacle avoidance, and other software-enabled capabilities. The U.S. Army tasked the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine to conduct a study to address the above concerns. In particular, the committee was asked to assess the sUAS threat, particularly when massed and collaborating; assess current capabilities of battalion and below infantry units to counter sUASs; identify counter-sUAS technologies appropriate for near-term, mid-term, and far-term science and technology investment; consider human factors and logistics; and determine if the Department of Homeland Security could benefit from DoD efforts. This abbreviated report provides background information on the full report and the committee that prepared it.
