Intra-Africa Migrations Innocent Moyo, Jussi P. Laine, Christopher Changwe Nshimbi, 2021-02-21 This book discusses regional and continental integration in Africa by examining the management of migration across the continent. It examines borders and securitisation of migration and the challenges and opportunities that arise out of reconfigured continental demographics. The book offers insights on intra Africa migrations and highlights how intra continental migration creates socio economic and cultural borders. It explores how these borders beyond the physical boundaries of states including the Berlin Conference constructed borders create cultural divides challenges for economic integration and cross border security and irregular migration patterns. While the movement of economic goods is valued for regional economic integration the mobility of people is seen as a threat. This approach to migration contradicts the intentions of true integration and development and triggers negative responses such as xenophobia that cannot be addressed by simply managing the physical border and allowing free movement. This book engages in a pivotal discussion of these issues which are hitherto missing in African border studies by demonstrating the ubiquity and overreaching influence of various kinds of borders on the African continent. With multidisciplinary contributions that provide an in depth understanding of intra Africa migrations and strategies for enhanced migration management this book will be a useful resource for scholars and students studying geography politics security studies development studies African studies and sociology.

South Africa and United Nations Peacekeeping Offensive Operations Garcia, Antonio, 2018-08-16 The creation of the Force Intervention Brigade (FIB) as the sharp tactical edge of the United Nations Stabilisation Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUSCO) tasked with the neutralising of armed groups was a watershed moment in the history of modern peace missions. What was more significant was that sub Saharan national leaders were instrumental in the creation of the FIB. South Africa, Tanzania and Malawi but lacked the resources to deploy such a force and consequently the brigade was deployed under the banner of the UN. With the legacy of an African Renaissance and its role in the conception of the FIB, South Africa remains a critical player in international peace and security in sub Saharan Africa and therefore holds a key strategic role in achieving the FIB's objectives. This comes at a critical time where blue helmets are increasingly exposed to complex and challenging security contexts. The aim of this work is to provide a conceptual model for South African military future operations and UN offensive peacekeeping operations. In this undertaking a layer of military and Clausewitzian theory is added to offensive peacekeeping operations. Furthermore there are sections on operational constructs, capstone and operating concepts, doctrine and structural elements as well as a section on mine action. This book contributes towards an understanding of the nature of modern strategy through the lens of UN offensive peacekeeping operations and provides insights into operational challenges.

Fees Must Fall Susan Booysen, 2016-10-01 This book explores the student discontent a year after the start of the 2015 South African FeesMustFall revolt FeesMustFall the student revolt that began in October 2015 was an uprising against lack of access to and financial exclusion from higher education in South Africa. More broadly it radically questioned the socio political dispensation resulting from the 1994 social pact between big business the ruling elite and the liberation movement. The 2015 revolt links to national and international youth struggles of the recent past and is informed by black consciousness politics and social movements of the international left. Yet its objectives are more complex than those of earlier struggles. The student movement has challenged the hierarchical top down leadership system of university management and its double speak of professing to act in workers and students interests yet entrenching a regressive system for control and governance. University managements while on one level amenable to change have also co opted students into their ranks to create co responsibility for the highly bureaucratised university financial aid that stands in the way of their social revolution. This book maps the contours of student discontent a year after the start of the FeesMustFall revolt. Student voices dissect colonialism improper compromises by the founders of democratic South Africa feminism worker rights and meaningful education. In depth assessments by prominent scholars reflect on the complexities of student activism its impact on national and university governance and offer provocative analyses of the power of the revolt.
