Irish Novelists and the Victorian Age James H. Murphy, 2011-01-13 This is the first comprehensive study of the neglected Irish writers of the Victorian age whose work was highly popular with the British reading audience and therefore disparaged and largely forgotten from the era of W B Yeats and the Irish Literary Revival with its culturally nationalist agenda onwards It is based on a reading of around 370 novels by 150 authors including William Carleton the peasant novelist who wielded much influence and Charles Lever whose serious work was destroyed by the slur of rollicking as well as Joseph Sheridan LeFanu George Moore Emily Lawless Somerville and Ross Bram Stoker and three of the leading authors from the new woman movement Sarah Grand Iota and George Egerton James H Murphy examines their writing in a variety of contexts the political economic and cultural developments of the time the vicissitudes of the reading audience the realities of a publishing industry that was for the most part London based the often difficult circumstances of the lives of the novelists and the ever changing genre of the novel itself to which Irish authors often made a contribution Politics history religion gender and particularly land over which nineteenth century Ireland was deeply divided featured as key themes for fiction Finally the book engages with the critical debate of recent times concerning the supposed failure of realism in the nineteenth century Irish novel looking for deeper causes than have hitherto been offered and discovering occasions on which realism turned out to be possible
