Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 10 women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular or pulmonary disease. The subjects were randomly assigned to a 10-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week of 30 minutes of moderate-intensity aerobic exercise. The control group consisted of 10 women who did not exercise. The HR and EE were measured at rest and during exercise at the beginning and end of the 10-week period. The HR and EE were significantly higher in the training group than in the control group at the end of the 10-week period. The results of this study suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the HR and EE of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light or other light sources. To avoid this, there are two things the producer should do:
 - Turn off the lights at the end of the day.
 - Use red light for night shifts, as the length of the day can vary depending on the use of red light at night.
- The end of the day is the beginning of the next day, so the producer must make the production of the next day's light cycle start at the beginning of the next day's light cycle. The producer must make the production of the next day's light cycle start at the beginning of the next day's light cycle.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a serious problem with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, suppose the price for the output rises. The producer will want to produce more of the output, and this will require hiring more labor. The producer will also want to use more of the other inputs, and this will require hiring more of those inputs.
