Thinking in Cases Markus Asper,2020-01-20 Who is afraid of case literature In an influential article Thinking in Cases 1996 John Forrester made a case for studying case literature more seriously exemplifying his points mostly with casuistic traditions of law Unlike in modern literatures case collections make up a significant portion of ancient literary traditions such as Mesopotamian Greek and Chinese mostly in medical and forensic contexts The genre of cases however has usually not been studied in its own right by modern scholars Due to its pervasiveness case literature lends itself to comparative studies to which this volume intends to make a contribution While cases often present truly fascinating epistemic puzzles in addition they offer aesthetically pleasing reading experiences due to their narrative character Therefore the case understood as a knowledge transmitting narrative about particulars allows for both epistemic and aesthetic approaches This volume presents seven substantial studies of cases and case literature Topics touched upon are ancient Greek medical forensic philosophical and mathematical cases medical cases from imperial China and 20th century American medical case writing The collection hopes to offer a pilot of what to do with and how to think about cases

Innovate to Dominate Tai Ming Cheung, 2022-08-15 In Innovate to Dominate Tai Ming Cheung offers insight into why how and whether China will overtake the United States to become the world s preeminent technological and security power This examination of the means and ends of China's quest for techno security supremacy is required reading for anyone looking for clues as to the long term direction of the global order. The techno security domain Cheung argues is where national security innovation and economic development converge and it has become the center of power and prosperity in the twenty first century. China's paramount leader Xi Jinping recognizes that effectively harnessing the complex interactions among security innovation and development is essential in enabling China to compete for global dominance. Cheung offers a richly detailed account of how China is building a potent techno security state. In Innovate to Dominate he takes readers from the strategic vision guiding this transformation to the nuts and bolts of policy implementation. The state led top down mobilizational model that China is pursuing has been a winning formula so far but the sternest test is ahead as China begins to compete head to head with the United States and aims to surpass its archrival by mid century if not sooner. Innovate to Dominate is a timely and analytically rigorous examination of the key strategies guiding China's transformation of its capabilities in the national technological military and security spheres and how this is taking place. Cheung authoritatively addresses the burning questions being asked in capitals around the world. Can China become the dominant global techno security power? And if so when?
