Hertrampf, F. Piedad-Pascual, 2012-12-06 Current growth in global aquaculture is paralleled by an equally significant increase in companies involved in aquafeed manufacture Latest information has identified over 1 200 such companies not including those organizations in production of a variety of other materials i e vitamins minerals and therapeutics all used in varying degrees in proper feed formulation Aquaculture industries raising particular economically valued species i e penaeid shrimps and salmonids are making major demands on feed ingredients while relatively new industries such as tilapia farming portent a significant acceleration in demand for properly formulated aquafeeds by the end of the present decade and into the next century As requirements for aquafeeds increases shortages are anticipated in various ingredients especially widely used proteinaceous resources such as fish meal A variety of other proteinaceous commodities are being considered as partial or complete replacement for fish meal especially use of plant protein sources such as soybean meal In the past five years vegetable protein meal production has increased 10% while fish meal production has dropped over 50% since 1989 largely attributed to overfishing and serious decline in wild stock Throughout fisheries processing industries traditional concepts as waste have given way to more prudent approaches emphasizing total by product recovery Feed costs are a major consideration in aquaculture where in some groups i e salmonids high protein containing feeds using quality fish meal can account for as much as 40 to 60% of production costs Improving the Productivity of Prawn Ponds Paul Thomas, Dos O'Sullivan, 1994 Farming Freshwater Prawns Michael B. New, 2002 With coastal fisheries in decline around the world there is mounting concern about how long current sources of seafood can supply world needs Governments resource managers and those who make their livelihood on fishing are seeking better ways to improve fishing yields Many seek greater emphasis on restocking and aquaculture based stock enhancement as a way rapidly to replenish depleted fish stocks and increase fishery landings This volume presents case studies that represent various scenarios and situations in using sea ranching and marine hatchery enhancement to generate income re establish fisheries and conserve aquatic biodiversity The studies demonstrate that stocking can clearly work in some cases to increase fishery landings but that economic success will depend on many factors Crustacean Farming John F. Wickins, Daniel O'C. Lee, 2008-04-15
