On Translation Di JIN, Eugene Albert NIDA, 2006-03-01 Following the theoretical framework Nida had developed over decades of work on translation and semiotics the two authors offer an easily comprehensible analysis of the complex problems involved in translation After a critical review of the historical development of translation theory in the light of modern information theory they elucidate the most fundamental principles of translation in accordance with the concept of dynamic equivalence The treatment is closely related to actual translation practice and the principles elucidated are applicable to all types of translation though most of the examples analyzed are taken from translations between Chinese and English This new and expanded edition has two main parts Part I is the complete text of the original work as published in the early 1980s Part II consists of six of Professor Jin's more recent essays which provide further insights into the principle of equivalent effect and its applications in literary translation Particular attention is paid to practical procedures and the extremely complex relationship between creative translation and real fidelity Published by City University of Hong Kong Press

Diaspora and Class Consciousness Shanshan Lan, 2012-12-12 This book is an ethnographic study of the multi linear process of racial knowledge formation among a relatively invisible population in the Chinese American community in Chicago namely the working class Shanshan Lan defines Chinese immigrant workers as Chinese immigrants with limited English language skills who work primarily at low skill blue collar service jobs at the extreme margins of U S economy The book moves away from the enclave paradigm by situating the Chinese immigrant experience within the larger context of transnational labor migration and the multiracial transformation of urban U S landscape Through thick ethnographic descriptions Lan explores Chinese immigrant workers daily struggles to cope with the disjuncture between race as an American ideological construct and race as a lived experience The book argues that Chinese immigrant workers racial learning is not always a matter of personal choice but is conditioned by structural factors such as the limitation of the Black and white racial binary the transnational circulation of U S racial ideology the negative influence of prevalent U S rhetoric such as multiculturalism and colorblindness and class differentiations within the Chinese American community

Chinese Asianism, 1894-1945 Craig A. Smith, 2022-03-07 Chinese Asianism examines Chinese intellectual discussions of East Asian solidarity analyzing them in connection with Chinese nationalism and Sino Japanese relations Beginning with texts written after the first Sino Japanese War of 1894 and concluding with Wang Jingwei's failed government in World War II Craig Smith engages with a period in which the Chinese empire had crumbled and intellectuals were struggling to adapt to imperialism new and hegemonic forms of government and radically different epistemes He considers a wide range of writings that show the depth of the pre war discourse on Asianism and the influence it had on the rise of nationalism in China Asianism was a call for Asian unity Smith finds but advocates of a united and connected Asia based on racial or civilizational commonalities also utilized the packaging of Asia for their own agendas to the extent that efforts towards international regionalism spurred the construction of Chinese nationalism Asianism shaped Chinese ideas of nation and region often by translating and interpreting Japanese perspectives and leaving behind a legacy in the concepts and terms that persist in the twenty first century As China plays a central role in regional East Asian development Asianism is once again of great importance today The American Race Daniel Garrison

Complicating Categories: Gender, Class, Race and Ethnicity Eileen Boris,Angelique Janssens,1999

This volume focuses on complicating central concepts in the understanding of economic and social history class gender race and ethnicity Only recently have historians begun to ask how gender race and ethnicity as categories of analysis change narratives of class formation and working class experience While all three concepts refer to systems of inequality it remains unclear how these systems of difference relate to each other Despite a growing body of empirical literature authors more often connect dyads rather than consider historical phenomenon from the triad of class race and gender This volume highlights attempts to write a richer history that complicates categories suggesting how class gender race and or ethnicity combine across a wide range of economic and social landscapes The Island Race Kathleen Wilson,2003 Rooted in a period of vigorous exploration and colonialism this innovative study takes the idea of the English as an Island Race and shows how this concept is key to understanding British imperial history in the eighteenth century History of the Negro Race
