

Carefully Coding Radiation Oncology

- Use the appropriate code based on the complexity of the dosimetry calculation, including the number of treatment fields, the type of treatment modality, and the use of special devices.
- The dosimetry calculation should include the determination of the dose distribution within the treatment fields, the evaluation of the dose to critical structures, and the optimization of the treatment plan.

Treatment Delivery (CPT Codes 77401-77418)

- Use the appropriate code based on the type of treatment modality and the number of treatment fields.
- The treatment delivery should include the positioning of the patient, the verification of the treatment fields, and the delivery of the prescribed dose.
- If multiple treatment sessions are required, each session should be reported separately using the appropriate CPT code.

Treatment Management (CPT Codes 77427-77431)

- Use the appropriate code based on the complexity of the treatment management, including the number of treatment fields and the use of special devices.
- The treatment management should include the evaluation of the patient's response to treatment, the management of treatment-related side effects, and the modification of the treatment plan as necessary.
