Railroad History of Bellingham Bay, Washington Neill Mullen, Karl Kleeman, William Rink, 2014-11-24 A detailed account of the building of the first railroads in Washington Territory located in the Pacific Northwest bordered by Canada to the north and the Pacific Ocean to the west The author spent years collecting newspaper articles of the time and the story is told through the eyes and in the words of those who lived through this period The focus is on the settlements along the shores of Bellingham Bay In some ways it is not an easy story to tell Newspaper accounts of the time were often speculative In some cases they were used to mislead the public as well as inform them Rumors abounded large amounts of money were at stake Real estate risk takers could make and lose fortunes overnight At the same time editors and reporters of the time tried to second guess just where the railroads would go and what might become the so called terminus city for each of the national transcontinental lines building westward the Northern Pacific the Canadian Pacific and the Great Northern The History of Bellingham Bay and British Columbia Railroad in Whatcom County, Washington Martin, Garrett, 1982

Bellingham Bay and British Columbia Railroad Michael G. Impero, 2020-10-17 A group of successful businessmen situated throughout the country received word that a railroad was running across the Canadian countryside and planned to come through the community of Abbotsford BC Upon further investigation it was determined that the railroad was seeking to connect with a counterpart on the Washington State side of the border A group of men in San Francisco California incorporated the Bellingham Bay and British Columbia Railroad in 1883 Their intent was to provide Bellingham as the Washington State connection At the time of this decision there were four small towns on Bellingham Bay Sehome Whatcom Fairhaven and Bellingham These small communities were so remote that in some case one had to travel by rowboat from one to the other Putting the wheels in motion Pierre Cornwall bought 3700 acres of land surrounding Sehome and then constructed a sawmill and a wharf The progress was extremely slow with many major setbacks Eventually the B B B C was purchased by the Chicago Milwaukee and St Paul Railroad This is not only a book of the railroad s development it is a history of early Whatcom County from primitive forestland to today Back cover The Early Railroads of Whatcom County

Washington Territory William L. Rink, Karl T. Kleeman, 2020-01-25 This is the story of the early railroads in Whatcom County the furthest northwest county in the State of Washington Whatcom County is bordered on the west by Rosario Strait and the Pacific Ocean and on the north by Canada Four transcontinental railroads would eventually serve Whatcom County the Canadian Pacific the Northern Pacific the Great Northern and the Chicago Milwaukee St Paul Pacific Railroad Before these large railroads reached Whatcom County four small railroads were incorporated in the county the Bellingham Bay British Columbia the Bellingham Bay Railroad and Navigation Company the Fairhaven Southern and the Bellingham Bay Eastern Railroad This not just the story of the building of these railroads but includes all the politics and real estate speculation involved as the major transcontinental railroads moved westward And we share how the railroads impacted the communities that they served We hope you enjoy his wonderful story yes about the railroads but even more about the people of that era who like so many people from so many places built the society we enjoy today A History of the Puget Sound Country William Farrand Prosser,1903 History of Whatcom County ,1926 Washington Public Documents Washington (State).,1909 The Coal Fields of Pierce County Joseph Daniels,1914 The Ports of Port Angeles, Port Townsend, Anacortes, Everett, and Bellingham, WA ,1998 Pacific American Fisheries, Inc. August C. Radke,Barbara S. Radke,2002-01-29 This work documents the rise and fall of Pacific American Fisheries a salmon packing company based in Bellingham Washington which also had a substantial presence in Alaska It covers the company s history from its beginnings when Roland Onffroy arrived in early 1898 and saw an opportunity to start a business and make a mint using the abundant supply of salmon in nearby Puget Sound up until its closing in 1966 The company s story is presented chronologically as unfolding local regional national and international events impacted the fortunes of the company its employees and the town that housed it It also takes a close look at the entrepreneurs developers businessmen and Asian labor force that were associated with the company PAF s history can also be read as the story of how the United States was developed as people moved from the Atlantic to Pacific coasts and how the Pacific coast was targeted for development due to its natural resources that could easily be exploited for profit
