Examining the Phenomenon of "Teaching Out-of-field" Linda Hobbs, Günter Törner, 2019-01-01 This book identifies and surveys the major themes around out-of-field teaching that is teaching subjects or year levels without a specialization. This has been an issue in many countries for some time yet until recently there has been little formal research and poor policy responses to related problems. This book arises out of collaborations between members of an international group of researchers and practitioners from Australia, Germany, Ireland, England, South Africa, Indonesia and the United States. Cross-national comparisons of ideas through case studies, descriptions of practice and research data interrogates the experiences, practices and contexts relating to out-of-field teaching. In particular, the book considers the phenomenon of out-of-field teaching in relation to national policy contexts, local school leadership practices, professional development. The book represents an essential contribution on a highly topical issue that has implications for quality and equitable education around the globe

Changing the Course of Failure Sandra Stotsky, 2018-05-18 The basic purpose of this book is to help policy makers at all levels of government understand that 1 widespread adolescent underachievement is not susceptible to solution by educational interventions no matter how much money is allocated to public education and 2 there are unidentified educational and civic costs to focusing on low achievement and to expecting public institutions of education for K 12 and college to solve a growing social problem Many policy makers seem to think that teachers schools are the primary cause of low achievement Educational institutions still cannot solve a non education caused problem and haven t done so for over fifty years despite all the public and private money that has been allocated The book concludes with suggested policies for addressing the damage to public education from gap closing standards and with suggested areas for policy making in order to change the current course of failure for many low achieving students
