No Way Home Tyler Wetherall,2018-04-03 Wetherall lived in fifteen houses and five countries by the time she was nine She didn't think this was strange until Scotland Yard showed up and she discovered her father was a fugitive and their family name was an alias In 1983 the year she was born her parents went on the run with three young children traveling across Europe their expenses paid for with drug money It was over the summers spent visiting her dad in prison in California that he told her the truth he had been a pot smuggler in the seventies and his organization had bought in marijuana worth nearly a half billion dollars from Thailand Here Wetherall pieces together the story of her parents past which ultimately helps her understand her own adapted from publisher info No Way Home: Iraq's minorities on the verge of disappearance William Spencer,Johanna Green,Alessandro Manno,Mays Al-Juboori,Mark Lattimer,Alison Smith,2016-07-04 No Way Home Iraq's minorities on the verge of disappearance seeks to document the situation of Iraq's ethnic and religious minorities most affected by the violence that escalated after the fall of Mosul in June 2014. It is a follow up report to Between the Millstones: The State of Iraq's Minorities since the Fall of Mosul published in March 2015. Since June 2014, many thousands of persons belonging to minorities have been murdered, maimed or abducted, including unknown numbers of women and girls forced into marriage or sexual enslavement. ISIS forces and commanders have committed war crimes, crimes against humanity and the crime of genocide, including summary executions, killing, mutilation, rape, sexual violence, torture, cruel treatment, the use and recruitment of children, outrages on personal dignity and the use of chemical weapons. Cultural and religious heritage dating back centuries continues to be destroyed while property and possessions have been systematically looted. These abuses are ongoing at the time of writing and appear to be part of a conscious attempt to eradicate Iraq's religious and ethnic diversity. It should also be stressed that as the latest phase in the conflict reaches a two-year benchmark, forces fighting ISIS have also apparently committed human rights and international humanitarian law violations, including Iraqi Security Forces, Popular Mobilization Units and Kurdish Peshmerga. Millions of displaced persons still remain in camps and there are no serious returns to areas retaken from ISIS. As of March 2016, internal displacement exceeded 3.3 million. Iraqi sources estimate the total number of those who have lost their homes and are internally displaced at more than 4 million, factoring in those IDPs not registered. Currently, there appears to be no serious Iraqi or international effort to build the political, social and economic conditions for the sustainable return of those who lost homes and livelihoods as a result of the conflict. Militias and unscrupulous local authorities are exploiting this vacuum. This report is called No Way Home to highlight the despair Iraqi ethnic and religious communities feel about prospects for return. This perspective is rooted both in a sense of hopelessness about the prospect of return and frustration with the continued deterioration of humanitarian conditions. There is a lack of trust that the government, regional actors, local officials or the international community will provide the necessary support to facilitate returns, locate missing persons, provide justice, facilitate the difficult process of reconciliation and ensure the return of looted possessions and homes. The result will be another Iraqi lost generation, radicalized by homelessness and depredation, repeating the cycle that created ISIS.
