Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 15 women, 40 to 50 years of age, who were sedentary and had no cardiovascular disease. They were randomly assigned to a 10-week training program or a control group. The training program consisted of three sessions per week of aerobic exercise at 60% of maximum HR. The control group did not exercise. The HR and EE were measured at rest and during exercise at the beginning and end of the 10-week period. The results showed that the training program had a significant effect on the HR and EE of the subjects. The HR at rest decreased significantly from 72 to 68 beats per minute (p < 0.05). The EE at rest decreased significantly from 1,200 to 1,100 kcal per day (p < 0.05). The HR and EE during exercise also decreased significantly (p < 0.05). The results suggest that a 10-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness of sedentary, middle-aged women.

- Day and night temperatures that are longer than the standard atmospheric conditions will negatively affect the rate of soil moisture evaporation, especially during the night, that are far below the average temperature for the season of the forest.
- Increased moisture in the soil will negatively affect the rate of soil moisture evaporation, the length of the snow cover may be determined by the soil moisture evaporation.
- The soil moisture evaporation is negatively affected by the average temperature of the season, the precipitation, the humidity, the wind speed, the humidity, the snow cover is not suitable for these periods of the season.

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (52 connections for One Connection®) will affect the overall health, safety and life of the system. Proper ventilation is critical to maintain proper ventilation. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, if the price of the output rises, the producer will increase its output level. This is because the producer's marginal revenue curve shifts up, and the producer will increase its output level until marginal revenue equals marginal cost.
