To give way for hostages' release

U.S. must admit Iran 'crimes'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15 (AP) — The United States must admit that Iran committed "crimes" against its citizens in order to secure the release of American hostages held in the Islamic Republic, a top administration official said today.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the administration is "seriously considering" the possibility of making such an admission as part of a broader effort to resolve the crisis.

"We are looking at all options," the official said. "We are looking at the possibility of making an admission of some kind, but we are not going to make any announcement until we have a clear idea of what we are going to say."

The official said the administration is "seriously considering" the possibility of making such an admission as part of a broader effort to resolve the crisis.
