Reading-Writing Connections Mary F. Heller, 1999-04-01

Reading Writing Connections From Theory to Practice is an extraordinary language arts methods text that enables elementary and middle school teachers to create classroom environments where all students can become lifelong readers and writers. Focusing on developmentally appropriate methods and materials, this remarkably readable book empowers a new generation of teachers to integrate reading, writing, listening, and speaking in K-8 classrooms. Heller's highly accessible writing style makes this book suitable as a primary text for undergraduate and graduate courses in language arts, reading, writing, and literacy. Special features of this second edition include a vision of how to transform cutting edge theory and research into classroom practice that utilizes integrated language arts instruction, a unique developmental perspective with separate chapters on teaching methods and materials for kindergarten, primary, 1-3, intermediate, 4-6, and middle grades, 7-8 instructional guidelines that offer generous, detailed suggestions for applying theory to practice, plus For You to Try and For Your Journal exercises that encourage critical thinking and reflection, and a wealth of classroom vignettes, examples of students' oral and written language, illustrations, and figures that accentuate interesting and informative theory, research, and practice In addition Reading Writing Connections offers expanded content on the impact of sociocultural theory and the whole language movement on the teaching of reading and writing across the curriculum greater emphasis on cultural diversity including new multicultural children s literature booklists that complement the general children s literature bibliographies and current information on alternative assessment emerging technologies the multiage classroom reader response to literature and thematic teaching Research in Education ,1974 Amer Handbk Psychi Vol 7 2nd Silvano Arieti,1981 34 Activities to Promote Careers in Special Education and Related Services ,1996 This guide was developed to assist in the recruitment of new professionals to the field of special education and related services The 34 suggested activities are based on the assumptions that planned systematic recruitment at the local level is critical to attracting dedicated and talented individuals to the field that career choices are often based on personal experiences and that practicing professionals are the best recruiters of future professionals The activities are organized into three sections Section 1 Increasing Visibility includes activities aimed at heightening public awareness of special education and related services These activities present the message that special education and the related professions are worthwhile rewarding careers to consider The second section Direct Recruitment Activities offers actions and events that can be arranged to directly convey the message about these careers Section 3 Marketing the Profession touches on marketing strategies and products that can showcase careers in special education and the related services professions Appendices provide fact sheets showing relevant national statistics a listing of relevant organizations and associations a description of the National Clearinghouse for Professions in Special Education a list of commonly asked questions about special education and related services and sample presentation materials DB Research in Deaf Education Stephanie Cawthon,Carrie Lou Garberoglio,2017-05-31 Edited by Stephanie W Cawthon and Carrie Lou Garberoglio Research in Deaf Education Contexts Challenges and Considerations is a showcase of insight and experience from a seasoned group of researchers across the field of deaf education Research in Deaf Education begins with foundational chapters in research design history researcher positionality community engagement and ethics to ground the reader within the context of research in the field Here the reader will be motivated to consider significant contemporary issues within deaf education including the relevance of theoretical frameworks and the responsibility of deaf researchers in the design and implementation of research in the field As the volume progresses contributing authors explore scientific research methodologies such as survey design single case design intervention design secondary data analysis and action research at large In doing so these chapters provide solid examples as to how the issues raised in the earlier groundwork of the book play out in diverse orientations within deaf education including both quantitative and qualitative research approaches Designed to help guide researchers from the germ of their idea through seeing their work publish Research in Deaf Education offers readers a comprehensive understanding of the critical issues behind the decisions that go into this rigorous and important research for the community at hand Radical Cataloging

K.R. Roberto, 2015-03-07 This collection of critical and scholarly essays addresses the state of cataloging in the world of librarianship. The contributors, including Sanford Berman, Thomas Mann, and numerous front-line library workers, address topics ranging from criticisms of the state of the profession and traditional Library of Congress cataloging to methods of making cataloging more inclusive and helpful to library users. Other essay topics include historical overviews of cataloging practices and the literature they generate, first-person discussions of library workers' experiences with cataloging or metadata work, and the implications behind what materials get cataloged, who catalogs them, and how. Several essays provide a critical overview of innovative cataloging practices and the ways that such practices have been successfully integrated in many of the nation's leading libraries. Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here.
