Poetic Techniques In My Country Dorothea Mackellar:

Her Sunburnt Country Deborah FitzGerald, 2023-08-30 The official biography of Australian poet and writer Dorothea Mackellar author of the celebrated poem My Country I love a sunburnt country a land of sweeping plains Though many Australians know lines from Dorothea Mackellar's classic poem My Country by heart very little has been written about the poet's extraordinary life From her childhood and youth in Sydney's Point Piper to discovering her love for the Australian landscape on the family farm in Gunnedah Dorothea engaged with the intellectual elite of Sydney and abroad as she embarked on a decades long literary career that saw her linked to some of the leading lights of her day A keen traveller Dorothea ventured as far as Japan Egypt and the Caribbean between longer stints in Europe In the heart of literary London she socialised with Joseph Conrad and Ezra Pound At home she counted among her friends E. M. W. Turner the famed war correspondent Charles Bean and journalistic royalty in the form of the Fairfax family Never before published letters and diaries reveal her unorthodox relationship with her best friend and collaborator Ruth Bedford Battling against a masculine tradition of Australian bush poetry led by Banjo Paterson and Henry Lawson Dorothea Mackellar boldly carved out a place for herself leaving an indelible mark on the Australian imagination Now for the first time the poet's unconventional life story is told a hidden gem of Australian history and a tale of one woman's extraordinary passion for her poetry her family and her country

Teaching Australian Literature Brenton Doecke, Larissa McLean Davies, Philip Mead, 2011 What role should Australian literature play in the school curriculum What principles should guide our selection of Australian texts To what extent should concepts of the nation and a national identity frame the study of Australian writing What do we imagine Australian literature to be How do English teachers go about engaging their students in reading Australian texts This volume brings together teachers teacher educators creative writers and literary scholars in a joint inquiry that takes a fresh look at what it means to teach Australian literature The immediate occasion for the publication of these essays is the implementation of The Australian Curriculum English which several contributors subject to critical scrutiny In doing so they question the way that literature teaching is currently being constructed by standards based reforms not only in Australia but elsewhere The essays assembled in this volume transcend the divisions that have sometimes marred debates about the place of Australian literature in the school curriculum They all recognise the complexity of what secondary English teachers do in their efforts to engage young people in a rich and meaningful curriculum They also highlight the need for both secondary and tertiary educators to cultivate an awareness of the cultural and intellectual traditions that mediate their professional practice and to encourage a critically responsive pedagogy

Victorian Environmental Nightmares Laurence W. Mazzeno, Ronald D. Morrison, 2019-05-06 The twelve essays in Victorian Environmental Nightmares explore various environmental nightmares through applied analyses of Victorian texts Over the course of the nineteenth century writers of imaginative literature often expressed fears and concerns over environmental degradation in its wide variety of meanings including social and moral In some instances natural or environmental disasters influenced these responses in other instances a growing awareness of problems caused by industrial pollution and the growth of cities prompted responses Seven essays in this volume cover works about Britain and its current and former colonies that examine these nightmare environments at home and abroad But as the remaining five essays in this collection demonstrate environmental nightmares are not restricted to essays on actual disasters or realistic fiction since in many cases Victorian writers projected onto imperial landscapes or wholly imagined landscapes in fantastic fiction their anxieties about how humans might change their environments and how these environments might also change humans

Nature and the English Diaspora Thomas R. Dunlap, 1999-09-28 First published in 1999 this book is a comparative history of the development of ideas about nature particularly of the importance of native nature as a part of the culture in the Anglo settler countries of the United States Canada Australia and New Zealand It examines the development of natural history in the great nineteenth century expansion of settlement It explores settlers adaptations to the end of expansion and scientists shift from natural history to ecology Finally it analyzes the diffusion of ecology through the Anglo world and to the general population as well as the rise of environmentalism Addressing not only scientific knowledge but also popular issues such as hunting common names for plants and animals landscape painting and nature stories this book explores the ways in which English speaking settlers looked at nature in their new lands and at the place they gave it in their societies

Was It Really Like That? Gino Gammaldi, 2019-08-30 Gino Gammaldi has a clear memory of the early beginnings of his family who migrated from Italy to Australia in the mid 1950s and has tried to portray those memories in this book in a manner that is sure to engage everyone's interest Much of the earlier parts of this book are written through the eyes of a child growing up among everything that should probably relate only to those who are adult enough to cope with such hardships temptations sorrows and disappointments But as a child these elements became a part of the simple life that was as normal as anything one could imagine But in later stages Gino also remembers all the good and fun times and he portrays these beautifully and graphically through the many characters you will encounter in the two volumes of his book He brings them to life and engages the reader simply by the humour and by the special qualities that each one of these characters magnifies and how all of these experiences impacted on his own life

Head,2016-02-22 The Anthropocene is a volatile and potentially catastrophic age demanding new ways of thinking about relations between humans and the nonhuman world This book explores how responses to environmental challenges are hampered by a grief for a pristine and certain past rather than considering the scale of the necessary socioeconomic change for a future world Conceptualisations of human nature relations must recognise both human power and its embeddedness within material relations Hope is a risky and complex process of possibility that carries painful emotions it is something to be practised rather than felt As centralised governmental solutions regarding climate change appear insufficient intellectual and practical resources can be derived from everyday understandings and practices Empirical examples from rural and urban contexts and with diverse research participants indigenous communities climate scientists weed managers suburban householders help us to consider capacity vulnerability and hope in new ways Cambridge Checkpoints HSC Advanced

English 2017 Melpomene Dixon,Kate Murphy,Amy Hughes,2016-06-28 Worlds of Difference Said Arjomand,Elisa P Reis,2013-08-22 How can differences be understood in social theory through comparisons and how should social theory relate to regional studies to do so This question has been prevalent within the sociological field for over a century but is becoming increasingly important in a globalised age in which cultural borders are constantly challenged and rapidly changing In this collection Arjomand and Reis illuminate the importance of exploring spatial cultural and intellectual differences beyond generalizations attempting to understand diversity in itself as it takes shape across the world With contributions from internationally renowned scholars and a focussed emphasis upon sociological key themes such as modernization citizenship human rights inequality and domination this title provides a rich and convincing discussion that will add significant value to the ongoing debate about alternative modernities diversity and change within the social sciences Worlds of Difference constitutes an important and timely collection that will be of great inspiration for students and scholars alike The Art of J.J. Degrees of Global Warming Peter Christoff, 2013-10-15 At Copenhagen in December 2009 the international community agreed to limit global warming to below two degrees Celsius to avoid the worst impacts of human induced climate change. However climate scientists agree that current national emissions targets collectively will still not achieve this goal. Instead the ambition gap between climate science and climate policy is likely to lead to average global warming of around four degrees Celsius by or before 2100. If a Four Degree World is the de facto goal of policy we urgently need to understand what this world might look like. Four Degrees of Global Warming: Australia in a Hot World outlines the expected consequences of this world for Australia and its region. Its contributors include many of Australia's most eminent and internationally recognized climate scientists, climate policy makers and policy analysts. They provide an accessible, detailed, dramatic and disturbing examination of the likely impacts of a Four Degree World on Australia's social, economic and ecological systems. The book offers policy makers, politicians, students and anyone interested, climate change access to the most recent research on potential Australian impacts of global warming and possible responses. Geraniums Around the World, 1993

Australia To-day ..., 1912 International Books in Print, 1991 Dictionary Catalog of the Art and Architecture Division New York Public Library. Art and Architecture Division, 1975 Australian Books in Print, 1992 Water Policy, Imagination and Innovation Robyn Bartel, Louise Noble, Jacqueline Williams, Stephen Harris, 2017-09-28 This book explores creative interdisciplinary and potentially transformative solutions to the current stalemate in contemporary water policy design. A more open policy conversation about water than exists at present is proposed, one that provides a space for the role of the imagination and is inclusive of the arts and humanities relevant stakeholders including landholders and Indigenous peoples as well as science, law and economics. Written for a wide audience including practitioners and professional readers as well as scholars and students, the book demonstrates the value of multiple disciplines, voices, perspectives, knowledges and different ways of relating to water. It provides a fresh and timely response to the urgent need for water policy that works to achieve sustainability and may be better able to resolve complex environmental, social and cultural water issues. Utilising a broad range of evidentiary sources and case studies from Australia, New Zealand, Canada and elsewhere, the authors of this edited collection demonstrate how new ways of thinking and imagining water are not only possible but already practised and growing in saliency and impact. The current dominance of narrower ways of conceptualising our relationship with water is critiqued, including market valuation and water privatisation, and more innovative alternatives are described, including those that recognise the importance of place-based stories and narratives, adopt traditional ecological knowledge and relational water appreciations and apply cutting-edge behavioural and ecological systems science. The book highlights how innovative approaches, drawing on a wide range of views, may counter prevailing policy myopia, enable reflexive governance and transform water policy towards addressing water security questions and the broader challenges posed by the Anthropocene and the UN Sustainable Development Goals. Access, 1990 Asian/Pacific Book Development, 1995
