Schutz,2024 Teaching Climate Change to Children describes the journey of two literacy researchers to learn about climate change and support relevant literacy pedagogy for young children pre K 6 The authors argue that climate change and social justice are inextricable from each other that children in the younger grades are capable of learning about climate change and that reading writing and language study is well suited to this work Three anchoring themes are offered to support literacy climate pedagogy interconnectivity relationality and action with rich classroom examples and different entry points to engage with these themes either by starting small or going big The text includes chapters on the importance of taking an emotionally affirming stance and on the potential of incorporating arts based methods With love for the Earth and one another at its core this accessible book takes a broad view of what it means to cultivate sustainable futures for our planet for teachers and for children in today s schools Book Features A unique focus on teaching about climate change to young children as opposed to adolescents Insights drawn from a yearlong teacher inquiry group with classroom teachers and from literacy methods courses with preservice teachers Explicit attention to the importance of humanizing and care based practices in literacy climate pedagogy Classroom examples collected across four urban public schools where teachers used the activities and resources discussed in the book User friendly textboxes with suggestions and questions to guide discussion reflection and action Teachers Who Teach Teachers Tom Russell,Fred Korthagen,2013-09-13 This is a reflection on the education of teachers written by teacher educators who discuss features of their work and the challenges facing teacher education in the 1990s The book invites the reader to attempt similar analyses of personal practice and development in their own teaching The book deals with the personal development of both new and experienced teacher educators illustrating how strongly teacher educators are influenced by their visions and by the challenge to prove themselves in the university setting In addition the book examines the ways in which teacher educators have acted to promote their own professional development and study their own practices including writing as a tool for reflection a life history approach to self study as well as a study of educative relationships with others and the analysis of a personal return to the classroom Finally it takes a broader look at the professional development of teacher educators and offers a challenge to all teacher educators to consider the tension between rigour and relevance Growth, Maturation, Physical Activity, and Sport Robert M. development Studied Ignorance Herbert N. Foerstel, 2013-05-23 Despite concerted efforts from our educators administrators and government American education continues to struggle The author of this work argues that the decline can be traced to censored curricula inaccurate textbooks test driven evaluations and increasing poverty among the student population Under the definition of failure specified in the No Child Left Behind Act more than 80 percent of American schools could currently be labeled as failing while the quality of American education overall and our students performance continue to rank unfavorably against international competition This book examines the crisis in American education and identifies how weaknesses in textbooks teaching and testing have created the crisis facing American education a topic that dramatically affects students teachers and parents Author Herbert N Foerstel exposes the textbook wars that began a century ago and rage on with even more venom today His book traces the legal basis for curricular censorship that dates back 75 years identifies the bizarre process by which shoddy textbooks have been written published and come to be widely accepted and documents the disastrous effect that reliance on these materials has had on the curriculum Foerstel also supplies a careful assessment of the current political debate over education reform and of the proposed solutions to these problems
