Reports from Commissioners Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons,1875 We Could Not Fail Richard Paul,Steven Moss,2015-05-01 The Space Age began just as the struggle for civil rights forced Americans to confront the long and bitter legacy of slavery discrimination and violence against African Americans Presidents John F Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson utilized the space program as an agent for social change using federal equal employment opportunity laws to open workplaces at NASA and NASA contractors to African Americans while creating thousands of research and technology jobs in the Deep South to ameliorate poverty We Could Not Fail tells the inspiring largely unknown story of how shooting for the stars helped to overcome segregation on earth Richard Paul and Steven Moss profile ten pioneer African American space workers whose stories illustrate the role NASA and the space program played in promoting civil rights They recount how these technicians mathematicians engineers and an astronaut candidate surmounted barriers to move in some cases literally from the cotton fields to the launching pad The authors vividly describe what it was like to be the sole African American in a NASA work group and how these brave and determined men also helped to transform Southern society by integrating colleges patenting new inventions holding elective office and reviving and governing defunct towns Adding new names to the roster of civil rights heroes and a new chapter to the story of space exploration We Could Not Fail demonstrates how African Americans broke the color barrier by competing successfully at the highest level of American intellectual and technological achievement Monthly Catalogue, United States Public Documents ,1977 Nuclear Science Abstracts ,1965

Breaking Point Rebecca Schwartz Greene,2023-01-03 WINNER SOCIETY FOR MILITARY HISTORY DISTINGUISHED BOOK AWARDS FIRST BOOK This book informs the public for the first time about the impact of American psychiatry on soldiers during World War II Breaking Point is the first in depth history of American psychiatry in World War II Drawn from unpublished primary documents oral histories and the author s personal interviews and correspondence over years with key psychiatric and military policymakers it begins with Franklin Roosevelt s endorsement of a universal Selective Service psychiatric examination followed by Army and Navy pre and post induction examinations Ultimately 2 5 million men and women were rejected or discharged from military service on neuropsychiatric grounds Never before or since has the United States engaged in such a program In designing Selective Service Medical Circular No 1 psychiatrist Harry Stack Sullivan assumed psychiatrists could predict who might break down or falter in military service or even in civilian life thereafter While many American and European psychiatrists questioned this belief and huge numbers of American psychiatric casualties soon raised questions about screening s validity psychiatric and military leaders persisted in 1942 and 1943 in endorsing ever tougher screening and little else Soon families complained of fathers and teens being drafted instead of being identified as psychiatric 4Fs and Blacks and Native Americans among others complained of bias A frustrated General George S Patton famously slapped two malingering neuropsychiatric patients in Sicily a sentiment shared by Marshall and Eisenhower though they favored a tamer style Yet psychiatric rejections evacuations and discharges mounted While psychiatrist Roy Grinker and a few others treated soldiers close to the front in Tunisia in early 1943 this was the exception But as demand for manpower soared and psychiatrists finally went to the field and saw that combat itself not predisposition precipitated breakdown leading military psychiatrists switched their emphasis from screening to prevention and treatment But this switch was too little too late and slowed by a year long series of Inspector General investigations even while numbers of psychiatric casualties soared Ironically despite and even partly because of psychiatrists wartime performance plus the emotional toll of war postwar America soon witnessed a dramatic growth in numbers popularity and influence of the profession culminating in the National Mental Health Act 1946 But veterans with PTSD not recognized until 1980 were largely neglected Report Upon State Education in Great Britain, France, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, Belgium, and the United States of America Richard Laishley,1886 Implosion L. Parker Temple,2012-11-27 Implosion is a focused study of the history and uses of high reliability solid state electronics military standards and space systems that support our national security and defense This book is unique in combining the interdependent evolution of and interrelationships among military standards solid state electronics and very high reliability space systems Starting with a brief description of the physics that enabled the development of the first transistor Implosion covers the need for standardizing military electronics which began during World War II and continues today The book shows how these twin topics affected and largely enabled the highest reliability and most technologically capable robotic systems ever conceived This riveting history helps readers Realize the complex interdependence of solid state electronics and practical implementations in the national security and defense space programs Understand the evolution of military standards for piece parts quality and reliability as they affected these programs Gain insight into the attempted reforms of federal systems acquisition of security and defense related space systems in the latter half of the twentieth century Appreciate the complexity of science and technology public policy decisions in the context of political organizational and economic realities Written in clear jargon free language but with plenty of technical detail

Implosion is a must read for aerospace and aviation engineers manufacturers and enthusiasts technology students and historians and anyone interested in the history of technology military technology and the space program T.C.
