

REACTION PAPER

In his text, Michael Doyle draws upon three major factors which contribute to a liberal peacefulness: "constitutional, international or cosmopolitan sources." Democratic peace is the one in which aggressive interests of monarchies have been suppressed and individual interests of people are valued. Liberal states still have a certain desire for power; however, the benefits of peaceful coexistence between liberal states outweigh the benefits of war.

Firstly, according to Kant, the key factor is that a liberal republican state has to take into account the opinion of its citizens for whom a war would be disastrous. Consequently, the decision to start a war will be weighted with caution as the citizens will have to suffer such calamities as: "having to fight,... having painfully to repair the devastation war leaves behind...". In the case of non-liberal states the ruler who personally does not have to sacrifice anything as a result of war decides on starting a war or not, the decision to start a war is taken more easily. As a result, international policy of liberal states is characterized by caution.

Secondly, in terms of international law, liberal states recognize themselves as being just and are willing to cooperate with similar just states as a guarantee of mutual respect. As a result of free information exchange about the political life of foreign countries, liberal republics presume that foreign liberal states are also consensual, just and deserve accommodation. Liberal states recognize other liberal states as sharing similar political interests and, therefore, are willing to engage in respectful coexistence with one another.

Finally, the cosmopolitan law stresses the importance of commerce in the relationship between states. Countries are engaged in certain economic ties

Hativa,Jeffrey Goodyear,2001-11-30 This volume addresses the important problem of understanding good university teaching and focuses on the thinking beliefs and knowledge which accompany teachers actions It is the first book to address this area and it promises to become a landmark volume in the field helping us to understand a complex area of human activity and improve both teaching and learning It is for education researchers staff faculty developers and educational developers Oxford

Handbook of Deaf Studies, Language, and Education Marc Marschark Professor at the National Technical Institute of the Deaf at Rochester Institute of Technology,Patricia Elizabeth Spencer Research Professor in the Department of Social Work Gallaudet University,2003-03-27 In Plato s cratylus which dates to 360 B C Socrates alludes to the use of signs by deaf people In his Natural History completed in 79 A D Pliny the Elder alludes to Quintus Pedius the deaf son of a Roman consul who had to seek permission from Caesar Augustus to pursue his training as an artist During the Renaissance scores of deaf people achieved fame throughout Europe and by the middle of the 17th century the talents and communication systems of deaf people were being studied by a variety of noted scientists and philosophers However the role of deaf people in society has always been hotly debated could they be educated Should they be educated If so how How does Deaf culture exist within larger communities What do advances in the technology and the genetics of hearing loss portend for Deaf communities In this landmark volume a wide range of international experts present a comprehensive and accessible overview of the diverse field of deaf studies language and education Pairing practical information with detailed analyses of what works why and for whom and banishing the paternalism once intrinsic to the field the handbook consists of specially commissioned essays on topics such as language and language development hearing and speech perception education literacy cognition and the complex cultural social and psychological issues associated with individuals who are deaf or hard of hearing Through careful planning collaboration and editing the various topics are interwoven in a manner that allows the reader to understand the current status of research in the field and recognize the opportunities and challenges that lie ahead providing the most comprehensive reference resource on deaf issues Written to be accessible to students and practitioners as well as researchers The Oxford Handbook of Deaf Studies Language and Education is a uniquely ambitious work that will alter both theoretical and applied landscapes It surveys a field that has grown dramatically over the past 40 years since sign languages were first recognized by scientists to be true languages From work on the linguistics of sign language and parent child interactions to analyses of school placement and the mapping of brain function in deaf individuals research across a wide range of disciplines has greatly expanded not just our knowledge of deafness and the deaf but of the very origins of language social interaction and thinking Bringing together historical information research and strategies for teaching and service provision Marc Marschark and Patricia Elizabeth Spencer have given us what is certain to become the benchmark reference in the field Oxford Handbook of Deaf Studies, Language, and Education Marc Marschark, Patricia Elizabeth Spencer, 2005 This title is a major professional reference work in the field of deafness research It covers all important aspects of deaf studies language social psychological issues neuropsychology culture technology and education Selected Academic Papers of Pan Maoyuan on Higher Education Maoyuan PAN, 2015-11-24 Professor Pan Maoyuan is a distinguished educationist on higher education in China This anthology includes Pan's representative essays at different times which are independent from but have logical connections with one another Some essays focus on elaborating the basic rules of education and its application and probing the key features of the teaching principle during the teaching process of higher education Meanwhile some essays are mainly about the practice of higher education including a profound exploration of the serious theoretical and practical problems during different periods in China's higher education developments so as to find out scientific and feasible ideas as well as measures to solve the problems Readers would get a better understanding of higher education research in China and get more acquainted with the country's higher education development over the past few decades Readers would also obtain valuable insight by comparing China with the development of higher education system in other countries Service Learning in Higher Education Elaine Clanton Harpine, 2024-02-27 This practical guide assists university faculty in developing and implementing service learning courses and projects across multiple disciplines It examines how embedding academic service learning projects into the core curricula benefits not only the students but also their universities and communities The book describes ways in which service learning becomes a powerful teaching method using step by step explanations real world examples and instructor checklists and handouts Chapters detail how to integrate academic service learning projects into classroom pedagogy and evaluate student experience Key areas of coverage include Strategies for ensuring that students engage with academic service learning projects from the initial stages through completion Guidance on embedding an academic service learning curriculum into traditional coursework to supplement students textbook knowledge and classroom experiences to address real world problems in the community Research confirming the ways in which students learn more and score higher on end of the semester tests when courses incorporate academic service learning projects Steps to incorporate service learning projects across various disciplines and coursework to enrich student learning and produce positive outcomes for universities and communities Service Learning in Higher Education is an essential resource for professors and graduate students as well as teachers and educational professionals in such varied fields as school and clinical child psychology educational psychology social work pedagogy educational practice and policy sociology anthropology and all related disciplines Cultural Awareness and Competency Development in Higher Education Leavitt, Lynda, Wisdom, Sherrie, Leavitt, Kelly, 2017-02-08 As the world becomes more globalized student populations in university settings will continue to grow in diversity To ensure students develop the cultural competence to adapt to new environments universities and colleges must develop policies and programs to aid in the progression of cultural acceptance and understanding Cultural Awareness and Competency Development in Higher Education is an essential reference book on the latest literature regarding multiculturalism in colleges and universities focusing on administration and faculty implementation of culturally aware curriculum to support the development of students global competence Featuring extensive coverage on a range of topics including social constructivism co curricular learning and inclusive pedagogy this publication is ideally designed for academicians researchers and students seeking current research on the inclusion of culturally diverse curriculums in higher education

Integrating Service Learning and Multicultural Education in Colleges and Universities Carolyn R. O'Grady, 2014-04-08 The focus of this book is on the ways in which service learning and multicultural education can and should be integrated so that each may be strengthened and consequently have greater effect on educational and social conditions It offers a significant attempt to forge a dialogue among practitioners of service learning and multicultural education The overriding theme is that service learning without a focused attention to the complexity of racial and cultural differences can reinforce the dominant cultural ideology but academic work that seeks to deconstruct these norms without providing a community based touchstone isolates students and schools from the realities of the larger communities of which they are part Although the chapter authors provide varied perspectives on the benefits and challenges of integrating multicultural education and service learning they all are committed to a vision of education that synthesizes both action and reflection None of the authors pretend to have all the answers to what this integration should look like nor do they believe that today s social problems are easily ameliorated through education Rather they share theories practices failures and triumphs in order to further the conversation about the importance of aligning what educators say about the world and how they act in and on it These authors share the view that multicultural education is truly transformative for students only when it includes a community action component and likewise service learning is truly a catalyst for change only when it is done from a multicultural and socially just perspective It is their hope that the ideas explored in this book will further the work of those who share a commitment to the integration of action and reflection

A Compact for Higher Education K. Moti Gokulsing, Cornel DaCosta, 2017-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 This is a collection of papers which look at the relationship between higher education and those who use it and those who will in the future The papers look at how compacts could be developed to encourage the potential for maintaining and improving upon existing education agreements The book covers the university and higher education institutions and their relationship with government and industry as well as with the students
