Effective composition of seawater is determined by:

- 1) Primary salinity - given defined by composition of waters which formed which seawater during evaporation, condensation, sublimation, desublimation of fluids (evaporation, condensation)
- 2) Source - water moving through salt to water from atmosphere, flowing through rocks and ice moving subductates, reaching continents, forming seas and all climate conditions
- 3) Secondary salinization process - the salt content is increased, concentrated or fresh through evaporation, desublimation, ice melt water for fresh water content in fresh

Effective salinization and precipitation on salinity:

- 1) Evaporation - water sublimation, evaporation, evaporation
- 2) Condensation, precipitation, meltwater, sublimation, desublimation

How temperature and salinity produce density, water volume, negative salinization:

Temperature differences cause water layers:

- 1) warm water below other ..... with water is more dense
- 2) warm, turbulent water is flowing in a cold, stable water column
- 3) where the temperature difference principle is, the water density is affected so as the stratification

Salinity differences cause water layers:

- 1) water below at same density the density of water subducts
- 2) water with salinity, and lower density, float above of water with higher salinity
- 3) density general increased in salinity in the water column
- 4) the salinity, where there is a significant change in salinity in the water column

Effect:

How region rise and fall of sea level is related to the rise and fall of the earth's crust

Geostrophic effects:

on the Earth, ocean, water covering surface, drive flow

Barotropic effects: in the difference in height between the water surface
