or doorways The ability to learn such semantic categories from sensor data enables a mobile robot to extend its representation of the environment and to improve its capabilities As an example natural language terms like corridor or room can be used to indicate the position of the robot in a more intuitive way when communicating with humans This book presents several approaches to enable a mobile robot to categorize places in indoor environments The categories are indicated by terms which represent the different regions in these environments The objective of this work is to enable mobile robots to perceive the spatial divisions in indoor environments in a similar way as people do This is an interesting step forward to the problem of moving the perception of robots closer to the perception of humans Many approaches introduced in this book come from the area of pattern recognition and classification The applied methods have been adapted to solve the specific problem of place recognition In this regard this work is a useful reference to students and researchers who want to introduce classification techniques to help solve similar problems in mobile robotics
