Reframing Financial Literacy Thomas A. Lucey, James D. Laney, 2012-06-01 Scholarship related to financial and consumer education largely concerns itself with the acquisition management and growth of financial resources In a global setting that witnesses increasing competition for natural resources along with diminishing appreciation for human rights a challenge for financial and consumer educators involves developing foundation for bettering individual wealth in manners that respect all members of a global society Reframing Financial Literacy fills this need by providing literature that examines a broad view of financial literacy by connecting financial practice with issues of citizenship along with personal and professional identity It relates these issues to educational theory and practice to provide the reader with information about the relevance of improving social worth while bettering financial wealth Boasting 14 previously unpublished chapters from an international slate of authors and classroom adaptable lesson plans for each chapter Reframing Financial Literacy will interest both teachers and researchers with its exciting classroom activities and its provocative content This is a must work that no education professional should be without Financial Capability and Asset Building with Diverse Populations Julie Birkenmaier, Margaret Sherraden, Jodi Jacobson Frey, Christine Callahan, Anna Maria Santiago, 2018-12-07 Global economic recovery in the aftermath of the Great Recession has not been experienced equally while the share of wealth owned by the richest 3% has grown the share owned by the poorest 90% continues to decline as reported by Oxfam in 2016 This wealth divide disproportionately affects racial and ethnic minority communities This book underscores the importance of financial capability and asset building FCAB practice policy and research during a period when vulnerable populations face increasingly difficult economic and financial realities At the same time retrenchment and privatization of government sponsored social services have eroded the safety net available for families experiencing poverty or near poverty conditions The proliferation of products and services available from both formal and informal financial institutions highlights the need to promote FCAB to avoid and or recover from financial difficulties crises and poverty The contributors to this volume disseminate findings from interventions designed to increase financial knowledge financial management and financial access across several vulnerable populations including immigrant communities Further they demonstrate the need for culturally sensitive FCAB service delivery considering opportunities and barriers posed by past and current life situations experiences and environments experienced by different populations The book is aimed at policymakers researchers and practitioners who assist financially vulnerable people This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Community Practice
