What is a sloth?

A sloth is a mammal found in the jungles of Central and South America. There are two types of sloth – two-toed sloths and three-toed sloths.

Appearance

Sloths have long limbs, round heads and thick fur. They have long sharp claws for climbing trees and hanging from branches. Their fur often has a green, moss-like growth on the upper half, giving it a camouflaged look. The upper lip helps catch up the body, and hair on their chests can be raised, making and support.

Habitat

Sloths are arboreal animals – this means that they spend most of their time in trees. They eat, sleep and even give birth hanging upside down from branches. They only come down from the trees to go to the toilet.

Diet

Sloths mostly eat leaves, twigs, buds and shrubs, but they have been known to occasionally eat insects and birds. They have an extremely slow digestion process about 80% of most of their body's energy – the rest can take a sloth up to 100 days!

Movement

Sloths move extremely slowly. They crawl through the trees at an average speed of just a centimetre a minute, and can hold their up in the ground. They are however, good swimmers and can float up to three times faster in the water.

Did you know...?

- Sloths can hold up their tail for up to 30 minutes!
- Sloths can be found in both Central & South America.
- They can go for long periods without eating.
